COUNSEL FIGHT TO SAVE BOYS FROM SCAFFOLD

Appeal Proceeding For Two Sentenced to Hang This Month

Tragedy Followed Fight Among Men Riding Freight Car

Lives of two eighteen-year-old lads found guilty of murder and sentenced by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald on November 10 at the New Westminster assizes to hang on January 27 are at stake in an appeal proceeding before the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

The two lads are George Burgess and John McKenzie, and the jury finding them guilty of murder made a recommendation for mercy.

Both are native sons of British Columbia, one being born in Cumberland and one in Vancouver. The tragedy which brought them to trial occurred on July 3 between Mission City and Ruby Creek, Otto Bosch, a twenty-two year old Dutchman, dying from injuries he was suffering from when picked up beside the railroad track.

RIDING FREIGHT CAR

With Bosch and a man named Rieberggen they were stealing a ride on a freight car. It was alleged a quarrel

SIX CITIES PLAN JOINT ADVERTISING FOR NEXT SUMMER

More Frequent Displays of Less Space Policy This Year

Puget Sounders Annual Meeting Held in Seattle Saturday

Remarkable results from last year's campaign was referred to, and it was decided to proceed along similar lines this year at the annual meeting of the Puget Sounders and British Columbians Associated held in Seattle Saturday.

The same six cities interested in community advertising of the Pacific Northwest will co-operate this year and the city of Longview and the Southwestern Washington Hotelmen's Association will become associate members. Anacortes and New Westminster enter the plan as associate contributing members again this year.

The budget calls for $41,050, to be contributed as follows: Seattle, $15,750; Vancouver, $9,150; Tacoma, $4,750; Everett, Bellingham and Victoria, $2,550. Anacortes and New Westminster as associate members contribute $500 and $250 respectively. The advertising fund may be swelled by $5,000 from the Southwestern Washington Hotelmen's Association and $2,500 from the Longbell Lumber Company for the city of Longview which they have established as a model city and where they hold extensive interests beside their lumber interests.

Advertising of Longview as the gateway to the Puget Sound country will follow their entry into the campaign.

APPROPRIATIONS

Thirty thousand dollars will be spent in straight newspaper advertising and magazine advertising this year, $3,000 for literature and $1,000 to help main-

ST. LAWRENCE PLAN IS CLOSELY STUDIED

Premier of Canada Tells Delegation Great Questions Involved in Canal Scheme

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—That the problem of the St. Lawrence Waterway was the biggest the Government of Canada would have to face for some years and there was every necessity for giving it the closest consideration before any step could be taken was the comment of the Prime Minister to-day when a delegation representing the Associated Boards of Trade of Ontario met the Cabinet and presented a number of resolutions, chief among which was one urging the Government to proceed without unnecessary delay to make appropriate arrangements for the early construction of the waterway.

Another resolution expressed the hope "that the great navigation and water potentialities of the St. Lawrence would be developed for the general service of the people."

PUBLIC CONTROL

The latter resolution declared it to be the opinion of the representative business men in Ontario that the transference of any of the interests of the people of the Province of Ontario in the water powers of the St. Lawrence to be developed by or in any way to pass under the control of private or corporate interests or public interests other than the Province of Ontario or on behalf of the municipalities would be prejudicial to the best interests of the Province."

WOMAN TRIES FOR THIRTY YEARS TO BE STAR ON THE STAGE

New York, Jan. 16.—The New York American says to-day that Fanny Grant, a woman who came from London, Ont., to New York thirty years ago, is still waiting and hoping for success upon the stage. She was twenty-five when she came to New York, the newspaper says, and during her thirty years of life in the big city she has had three engagements. She has played minor parts for about five years, but she still is devoted to the theatre.

MAN WHO KILLED GIRL CONFESSES

Flint, Mich., Jan. 16.—A man who gave his name as Adolph Hotaling, arrested at Flushing, Mich., confessed to Sheriff Green to-day that he had slain Dorothy Schneider, five-year-old schoolgirl of Mount Morris, Michigan.

Premier Returns From Ottawa, Satisfied With Results Of His Mission

Premier MacLean returned to his office to-day after his recent mission to Ottawa, satisfied with the results of his work.

"As the chief matters which I discussed in Ottawa concern the policies of the Federal Government, I do not wish to comment on them at this time," the Premier said, when asked what he had done at the Capital. "I do not feel taht I should anticipate in any action which the Federal Government might see fit to take on these matters."

Asked about the progress of the Ottawa discussions, the Premier replied: "I feel satisfied with my trip to the East."

It was presumed that one of the chief questions taken up by the Premier with the Federal Government was the return of federal railway lines in British Columbia to provincial control, but as Mr. Justice Martin, who investigated this Province's claims has not filed his report yet, the Government leader had no statement to make in this connection. The whole future of the Peace River country, of course, is bound up with the control of the railway lands.

MISSION SUCCESSFUL

While silent on railway matters, the Premier was able to announce the conclusion of important public business at Ottawa. He made definite progress in his plan for co-ordinating Federal and Provincial Government income tax auditing; arranged for Federal co-operation in collection taxes from transient traders, and secured for Victoria the same customs privileges as Vancouver enjoys in selling supplies to ships.

INVESTIGATE AUDITING

As a result of the Premier's conferences with Hon. William Euler, Minister of National Revenue, the Federal Government will send a high official

Toronto, Jan. 16.—A remand for a week was made when George Deignton appeared in police court here to-day on a charge of murder following an attack on his wife and two children on Saturday, when his four-year-old son Bernard was killed and the two others seriously injured.

Deignton believed he had killed all three when he surrendered to the police Saturday.

Mrs. Deignton to-day was still unconscious and her death is feared.

Joan Deignton, the daughter, is in better condition than her mother, but remains in a dangerous condition.

Poverty was said by Deignton to have prompted the attack.

TWO OIL GROUPS START WORLD-WIDE WAR FOR CONTROL

Standard Oil Corporation and Royal Dutch Shell Company at Grips

New York, Jan. 16.—A world-wide oil war was indicated to-day as the Standard Oil Company of New York picked up the gage of battle which it believes the Royal Dutch Company of Europe has tossed to its feet. The controversy started last Summer when Sir Henri Deterding asserted the Standard Oil Company of New York, in contracting for Russian oil, was buying "stolen oil" taken from its owners by "a gang of cutthroats, assassins and thieves."

NO WASHINGTON INTERFERENCE

Secretary of Commerce Hoover today said the United States Department of Commerce had no intention of interfering in the new open warfare between the British-owned Royal Dutch Shell Company and the Standard Oil Company.

REPLY PUBLISHED

The Standard Oil Company of New York, making its first public reply to Deterding regarding its purchases of Russian oil for the Indian trade, asserted its dealings with the Soviet Government did not run counter to the policy of the United States toward Russia.

The company planned to carry out its Russian oil contracts and "market its supply effectively," a statement issued by the company said, "and it will not be swerved in any manner from its clearly conceived policy by such desperate and destructive measures as are being followed in India and threatened in other parts of the world."

ROCKEFELLER'S ATTITUDE

Last July Sir Henri Deterding, head of the Royal Dutch Shell Company, issued a statement characterizing the purchase of Russian oil by the Standard Company as counter to the best interest of humanity and trade honesty, and as bound to replace American oil. He was reported to have made a futile appeal to John D. Rockefeller

NO CHANGES FOLLOW RECOUNT IN SAANICH

Returning Officer R. R. F. Sewell this morning completed recount of the ballots cast in the Saanich municipal elections for Reeve and Councillors for Wards Four and Seven, without any change in the result of the election.

Reeve Crouch and his opponent each lose one vote on the recount, the first count in the Ward Four Council contest correct, and the Ward Seven final check gives, G. S. Eden a slight loss to each of his opponents.

The final count for School Trustees will be made this afternoon.

The results issued this morning being as follows:

For Reeve—William Crouch, 1,231; David Milne, 834, spoilt 13; Reeve Crouch's majority of 397 being unchanged.

For Councillor in Ward Four—William Stubbs, 216; George McWilliam, 182, spoilt, 6; Mr. Stubb's majority, 34, unchanged.

For Councillor in Ward Seven—George S. Eden, 260; H. Holmes, 165.

H. H. Grist, 72, spoilt, 18; Mr. Eden's majority over Mr. Holmes being reduced from 102 to 95.

The newly-elected Council will be sworn in on Thursday at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall, the statutory inaugural meeting being held at the same time.

CANADA'S TRADE BALANCE IN 1927 WAS $151,666,000

Ottawa, Jan. 14—Canada's trade statement for the calendar year 1927, which will be issued this week, will show a favorable trade balance of more than $151,666,000. The total exports were about $1,238,783,004 and the imports $1,087,116,891.

The trade balance for 1926 was over $275,000,000.

The exports in 1927 were less than the year before and the imports greater.

Experts express the opinion that the increase in construction in Canada has had much to do with this. A great deal of machinery and construction material increased the total of imports whereas many people are occupied in building construction who otherwise would be producing goods for export.

Canada's total trade in 1927 amounted to $2,325,899,895 as against $2,276,95,875 in the calendar year of 1926, an increase of $37,604,020.

In 1926 Canada imported $998,341,911 worth of goods and exported $1,279,943,964.

NEW WESTMINSTER FACES MENACE OF WATER SHORTAGE

Gangs of Men Rushed to Scene of Landslide Near Lake Coquitlam

New Westminster, Jan. 16.—Alfred Hardman, superintendent of the water board, reported at noon to-day that 150 feet of the main New Westminster main near Lake Coquitlam had been swept away and that necessary repairs to establish connections would take from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. One-twenty-five-foot length was carried away by a clay slide which occurred, it is believed, some time Sunday.

New Westminster, Jan. 16.—With only 4,000,000 gallons of water in the upper reservoir, the reservoir in Queen's Park empty, and only a six-inch supply available, New Westminster faces a water famine to-day. Gangs of men have been rushed to a great landslide one mile this side of Lake Coquitlam. It is feared the slide has broken the twenty-four-inch main which feeds the reservoirs.

Several industrial plants had to cease activities this morning owing to lack of water and unless relief can be secured by linking up with the Burnaby mains all plants will be closed down this afternoon.

SUPPLY FOR HOMES

As an emergency measure a supply was secured from a six-inch main from Burnaby at 10 o'clock this morning but this met only immediate domestic needs.

Richmond is also without water, but efforts are being made to secure a supply from Point Grey through the Lulu Island mains, linked with mains on the north shore of the Fraser River.

PLANS TRANSCANADA AIR MAIL SERVICE; HON. PETER J. VENIOT

Montreal, Jan. 16.—"If I remain Postmaster-General of Canada I will have mail carried from Montreal to the British Columbia coast in one and a half days," declared Hon. P. J. Veniot at the opening of a new post office at Rawdon, Que., on Saturday.

The declaration came after the Minister had described how the system of postal delivery had been revolutionized within the last few years.

PREMIER ASSISTS CITY IN SELLING GOODS TO SHIPS

Victoria Put on Same Basis As Vancouver, Under New Customs Ruling

MacLean Gets Quick Action From Federal Government in Presenting Plan

Victoria will be put on a basis of complete equality with Vancouver in selling supplies to steamships, as a result of representations made by Premier MacLean to the Department of National Revenue in Ottawa recently.

Results of these conferences, announced by the Premier on his return here to-day, show that his work in Ottawa in this connection was completely successful.

ON DIFFERENT BASIS

The question of selling ship's supplies here was brought to the attention of the Premier by W. E. Adams, leading Victoria ship chandler. He explained that Vancouver merchants are permitted to supply goods to Canadian Pacific steamships on the Oriental run out of warehouses free of duty. This privilege, however, does not apply in Victoria. Mr. Adams explained that Victoria business men are not asking that Vancouver be put on the Victoria basis, as this would cause the business to go to the United States. The local interests, however, felt that they should enjoy the same status as the merchants of Vancouver.

Hon. William Euler, Minister of National Revenue, with whom Dr. MacLean discussed this matter, promptly ruled that Victoria business should be given the same customs regulations and privileges as their competitors on the mainland.

PLANE ATTEMPT ENDS IN FAILURE

He was accompanied by Roger Williams.

Cairn Steamship Line Changes Hands

Montreal, Jan. 16.—The Cairn Line, one of the oldest steamship companies plying up the St. Lawrence, has been bought by the Furness Withy concern, according to cables received here today.

This was confirmed by both the Furness Withy offices and the Robert Reford Company, agents for the Cairn Line. Neither office would make any statement concerning the sale.

Youth Drowned In Fraser River

New Westminster, Jan. 15.—William Curle, nineteen-year-old son of Percy Curle, assistant market clerk here, was drowned in the Fraser River to-day after his head hit a log when he slipped on a log boom at the New Westminster Shook Mill. Artificial respiration failed to revive him.

Gasboat Accident Cause of Death

Ocean Falls, B.C., Jan. 16.—Roscoe Owens was drowned and his brother Lloyd was seriously injured at Kildala Arm, 125 miles south of Prince Rupert, when the gasboat Clara Francis blew up after leaving Green Bay. Representatives of Twenty-one Republics of Western Hemisphere Meet in Havana; Aid of United States in Solving Problems and Leading to Better Times for All Is Pledged by President Coolidge in Opening Address

T. AHEARN HONORED

Ottawa, Jan. 16—Thomas Ahearn, newly appointed member of the Privy Council of Canada, was sworn in at noon to-day. The ceremony took place before the Governor-General in the East Block of the Parliament Buildings.

Where Coolidge Is Guest While Visitor In Cuba

Above is a picture of the Presidential Palace in Havana, where the head of the United States Government is staying as a guest of President Machado while in Cuba attending the Sixth Pan-American Conference. The journey is the first made by Mr. Coolidge outside of the United States since he became President.

Havana, Jan. 16.—The helping hand of the United States in the solution of the problems that beset the nations of the New World was extended by President Coolidge to-day as he opened the Sixth Pan-American conference here. In his address he dedicated the efforts of his Government to work for international conference, helpfulness and goodwill.

He spoke in the National Theatre before the representatives of twenty-one nations of the Western Hemisphere.

General Gerardo Machado, President of Cuba, who welcomed President Coolidge and the delegates from the Latin-American countries to Cuba for the conference, stressed idealism, fraternity and co-operation as the aims of the American countries.

As the spokesman of a country on an equal plane with its sister republics, the President of the United States gave assurance that his Government was prepared to encourage all peaceful pursuits that would bring the American family of states into closer and more permanent harmony. Although he spoke in English to a predominantly Spanish understanding audience, Mr. Coolidge was frequently interrupted by prolonged applause, which seemed an echo of the tremendous ovation with which he was acclaimed on his way to the theatre.

The great throng assembled cheered and clapped their hands at several points in his address, laying stress on hope for peace in the New World and rose from their seats several times to add weight to their enthusiasm.

Havana, Cuba., Jan. 16.—In a speech keyed to the note of international confidence, helpfulness and goodwill, President Coolidge opened the Sixth Pan-American Congress here to-day by urging the nations of the Western Hemisphere to join in the task of assuring to all its peoples the freedom Columbus bequeathed to them in equal measure.

Journeying outside of his homeland for the first time since he became President, Mr. Coolidge spoke to the distinguished gathering, not as the head of a pre-eminently powerful country, but as the spokesman of a nation on an equal plane with its sister Republics, trying to find the way to a peaceful solution of whatever problems beset their quest for complete understanding and friendship.

Without mentioning the League of Nations or the Monroe Doctrine, the President assured the delegates that the Pan-American Union "involves no antagonism toward any section of the world or any other organization," but at the same time declared that the nations of the Wetsern Hemisphere were committed to the principle that they were "better fitted to govern themselves than anyone else is to govern them."

Mr. Coolidge devoted his whole address to the community aspect of New World affairs rather than to the individual attitude and policies of his own country. The name of the United States was not once mentioned by the President except to give the assurance that his Government was prepared to encourage the development of shipping, air lines, highways and all pursuits of peace that might bring the various units of the American family of states into a closer and more permanent harmony.

He declared there was no intention in this hemisphere of any nation building up a great military establishment to overawe or subjugate its neighbors, and enunciated the doctrine that all nations of this hemisphere were determined to adjust their differences, "not by a resort to force, but by the application of the principles of justice and equity."

MEMORY OF HARDY HONORED BY LEADERS

Ashes of Great Writer Laid in Poets' Corner of Westminster Abbey To-day

London, Jan. 16—With modern religious simplicity, yet ancient pomp, the ashes of Thomas Hardy were laid at rest to-day beside the grave of Charles Dickens in the Poets' Corner of Westminster Abbey. The ceremony was held after 2 o'clock and great men of the political kingdom and kingdom of letters gathered with a thousand others to pay their last tribute to the man who was a leader in the world of fiction.

MANY MOURNED DEATH

The service lasted half an hour and was the climax of three days of mourning at the passing of the famous figure. Among the mourners were the Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Great Britain; Former Labor Premier Ramsay MacDonald, Rudyard Kipling, Sir James M. Barrie, George Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, Sir Edmund Gosse, Laurence Housman, erpresentatives of the King and the Prince of Wales and many others.

MANY WENT EARLY

Seats in the nave of the Abbey opened to the public began to fill this morning several hours before the service. Admirers of the late novelist trudged through a typical London drizzle to gain admission to the unreserved sections of the Abbey.

The South Transept of the ancient edifice was a living who's who of British arts and letters, with many of the most famous writers, artists, actors and critics of Great Britain attending.

WIDOW ATTENDED

The widow, heavily veiled, sat in the Poets' Corner for half an hour before the service began. Tears rolled down

SHAKE WITH ONE HAND AND SHOOT WITH THE OTHER

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 16.—Will Rogers, here as an unofficial "representative at large" of the United States at the Pan-American Conference, thinks his own country "sure is in a funny fix at this conference."

"We are shaking with one hand and shooting with the other," the humorist explained in commenting upon the Nicaraguan situation.

Rogers declined to make any prophecies, but asserted the conference "sure will be interesting when its gets going."

MISS UNDINE HOWAY, NEW WESTMINSTER, DIED IN CITY OF PARIS

New Westminster, Jan. 16.—News of the death in Paris of Miss Undine Howay, twenty-one, daughter of Judge F. W. Howay of New Westminster, was received here to-day. Miss Howay, who was accompanied by her mother, had been studying in the French capital since mid-Summer, having won the French Government scholarship of 10,000 francs awarded last year by the University of British Columbia. Miss Howay also captured the Alliance Francaise gold medal at the university last year.

It is believed her death was due to infantile paralysis.

U.S. TRADE BALANCE

Washington, Jan. 16.—A favorable trade balance for the United States of $681,707,000 last year was announced to-day by the Commerce Department, which fixed the exports at $4,886,160,000 and the imports at $4,184,453,000.

EXPLORER STARTS ON LONG TRIP IN NORTHERN CANADA

Edmonton, Jan. 16.—"All set" for his eighteen-month expedition through the heart of the Barren Lands, William H. Hoare of the Yukon and Northwest Territories branch of the Department of the Interior of Canada, will leave Edmonon to-morrow for Fort McMurray on the first leg of a journey that may take him eventually to Fort Churchill on Hudson Bay, or to some point on the Arctic coast. With him go six husky dogs that have come all the way from Baffin Island and all across Canada to act as his beasts of burden on the long and hazardous trip.

PULL HEAVY LOADS

Baffin Land dogs, says Mr. Hoare, are heavier and more sturdy than the dogs of the Western Arctic region, and can pull a heavy load day after day, and the explorer will depend for a large measure of his safety to these companions of the lone trail.

Mr. Hoare has the task of reportig on the recently created Thelon River Game Sanctuary, and on the wild animals and wandering tribes of Indians or Eskimos he may meet in his travels across the Barren Lands.

WILL WATCH WILD ANIMALS

He will watch the caribou in their annual migration and will keep an especially careful outlook for musk-oxen, as that species, many naturalists claim, is nearly extinct in the western Arctic region.

The explorer does not expect to see civilization again for eighteen months. He hopes to come back in the Fall of 199. He can not say which way he will return. That will depend on the outlet for which he finally heads.

HIGHER SALARIES ASKED BY JUDGES

Men of County Courts of Canada Request $7,000 a Year

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—A delegation of judges of the county courts of Canada, exclusive of the province of Quebec, waited upon the Prime Minister and members of the Cabinet here at noon to-day and requested that the salaries of county court judges be increased. The delegation was heard in camera, but it is understood the request was made that the salary of a county court judge should be increased from $5,000 to $7,000 a year. It was pointed out that a judge of a corresponding court in the United States received $10,000 a year. It was also stated that superior court judges in Canada received $9,000. Judges of the county court, it was held, were required to deal with many cases which later went before the higher courts.

PEACE AND COMMERCIAL PROGRESS KEYNOTES OF PAN-AMERICAN PARLEY

"All nations here represented," Mr. Coolidge said, "stand on an exact footing of equality. The smallest and the weakest speaker here with the same authority as the largest and the most powerful.

DEMOCRATIC RULE

Declaring the American republic had placed their confidence in the ultimate wisdom of the people, Mr. Coolidge said:

"We are thoroughly committed to the principle that they are better fitted to govern themselves than anyone else is to govern them," he said. "We do not claim immediate perfection, but we do expect continual progress. Our history reveals that in such expectation we have not been disappointed. It is better for the people to make their own mistakes than to have someone else make their mistakes for them."

Attachment to the policy of peace, Mr. Coolidge declared, was second among the nations of this hemisphere only to the attachment to the principle of self-government.

"Their chief efforts have been devoted to the arts of peace," he continued. "They have never come under the delusion of military grandeur. Nowhere among these republics have great military establishments ever been maintained for the purpose of overawing or subjugating other nations.

FOR DEFENCE

"We have all nourished a commendable sentiment of moderate preparation for national defence, believing that for a nation to be unreasonably neglectful of the military art, even if it did not invite and cause such aggression as to result either in war or in abject humiliation, it must finally lead to a disastrous disintegration of the very moral fibre of the nation. But it is one thing to be prepared to defend our rights as a last extremity and quite another to rely on force where reason ought to prevail.

"The form of our government's guarantees us against the Old World dynastic wars. It is scarcely too much to say that the conflicts which have been waged by our republic for 150 years have been almost entirely for the purpose of securing independence and extending the domain of human freedom. When these have been accomplished we have not failed to heed the admonition to beat our swords into ploughshares."

TRANSPORTATION LINKS

The material vehicles for the promotion of a closer union of American states enumerated by President Coolidge were highways, railroad lines, ocean lines, transportation of mail by air and the press of all countries. He noted that "great progress has been made in the publication of fuller information and unbiased views," but he expressed the hope for a still better exchange of news service between the various countries, contending that "what happens in this hemisphere is of more vital interest to all of us than what happens across any of the oceans."

Mr. Coolidge portrayed his interest in the development of shipping between North and South America and the construction of railroads and highways to serve as feeders. He disclosed that he was asking the United States Congress for authority to send United States engineering advisers to whatever Central and South American nations might request theli services.

He predicted that air mail routes would be established soon and told the conference the United States Congress was considering supporting such routes and that private citizens of the United States were considering their establishment.

BOUNDARY PROBLEMS

Although he did not name the Tacna-Arica boundary dispute, Mr. Coolidge did point to the "delicate and difficult nature" of boundary problems and declared the past record of achievement in this respect "places heavy responsibility upon the present generation to advance the great work that has been so auspiciously begun."

Finally, President Coolidge commended to the conference a discussion of means to bring "all of our people more definitely and more completely" under the reign of law.

"After all," he said, "it is in that direction that we must look with the greatest assurance for human progress. We can make no advance in the realm of economics, we can do nothing for education, we can accomplish but little even in the sphere of religion, until human affairs are brought within the orderly rule of law.

"The surest refuge of the weak and the oppressed is in the law. It is preeminently the shield of small nations."

took place in which McKenzie and Rhebergen fought and Burgess and Bosch fought while the train was proceeding. This was in the early hours of the morning, as the train was proceeding to Ruby Creek. Bosch sustained a fractured skull and when they reached Ruby Creek he was lifted off the train by Rhebergen and McKenzie. The train crew and a number of boys gathered around and medical aid was summoned. He died within twenty-six hours. He made no statement regarding the tragedy, Mr. Alex Henderson said in his opening. It was submitted at the trial that Bosch's injury could have been sustained by his head coming in contact with one of the poles which formed the load of the freight car in which they were stealing a ride.

A. M. Johnson, K.C., is Crown counsel. Alex. Henderson, K.C., appears for Burgess and Stuart Henderson for McKenzie.

The grounds of appeal for both the prisoners are substantially the same. It is claimed the trial judge erred in his charge to the jury in not drawing a distinction between murder and manslaughter or telling them they could bring in a verdict of manslaughter.

PLEA OF YOUTH

It is also claimed he erred in not withdrawing the Crown counsel's remarks in reference to a weapon when there was no evidence of a weapon or instrument being used. The defence of youth, it was also claimed, was not put forward by the judge. As to McKenzie, sworn testimony was given that he did not strike accused.

Evidence of the quarrel between the four men in the freight car and the suggestion that money was the reason was reviewed. Burgess and McKenzie, according to the evidence, called "Money! Money! Money!" as they set upon their traveling companions. Rhebergen gave up $3 to McKenzie. In his evidence he said he thought Bosco had a few more dollars than he did, but no evidence was given, Mr. Alex. Henderson argued, that Burgess got any money from Bosch, and no money was found on Burgess.

NO ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

He pointed out to the court that neither of the men attempted to escape. A mile before the train reached Ruby Creek the train slowed down and they could have escaped.

They stayed on the train and McKenzie helped Bosch off the train After the train stopped there was no one to prevent them escaping, and for a time there was no one around but other hobos.

Judgment has been reserved by the Court of Appeal in Noble and St. John versus Bramiley. The appellants appealed against a ruling of Mr. Justice Morrison upholding the registrar on a bill of costs for litigation conducted by appellants for respondents. A bill of $1,400.60 was made up from which a discount of $257.60 was given, and the bill paid or retained out of money received from the litigation. Respondent was dissatisfied with the bill and took proceedings to have it taxed by the registrar. On the summons for the taxation Mr. Justice Morrison gave leave to deliver a bill of additional items and a supplementary bill of $163.05 was rendered and the discount allowed on the original bill withdrawn. The final amount claimed was $1,567.95. From this the registrar taxed $618.85. Mr. Justice Morrison upheld the registrar's ruling.

TWO OIL GROUPS START WORLD-WIDE WAR FOR CONTROL

Jr., active head of the Standard Oil, to withdraw from finanical deals with the Soviet Government.

A statemetn was issued last August to the effect that Sir Henri intended fighing "the invasion of the British Indian market" by Russian oil "to the bitter end, if neecssary."

APPROVED BY WASHINGTON

The Standard Oil Company said today that its dealings with the Soviet Government were justified by a statement issued in 1920 by Secretary of State Hughes that "it would be proper for American business men, at their own risk, to trade with Russia."

Because of the distance between the United States and India, at least 5,000 miles could be saved, with corresponding reduction in transportation cost, by shipping Russian oil from Black Sea ports, the statement said, pointing out that the Royal Dutch Shell Company had large production in Roumania which made it independent of Russian sources.

It was only in 1926, the statement said, that Sir Henri's company had decided not to use Russian oil. Prior to that time the statement added, it had shipped nearly 24,000,000 imperial gallons of Russian oil into India and Ceylon, as against 21,000,000 shipped there by the Standard Oil Company.

PRICES CUT

The statment said that last September the Royal Dutch Shell Company had started price cutting in India, and in November started the practice of "secret rebates" on sales and of bonuses for increased deliveries of high-grade oils.

The Standard Oil Company asserted it had met these measures partly, so that under present conditions, "this form of competition, if continued, will cost the Royal Dutch Shell and Burmah Oil companies approximately $12,750,000 a year, and the Standard Oil Company of New York approximately $4,000,000 a year."

The Burmah Company is a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch Shell Company.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Dorchester, Eng., Jan. 16—While the great and famous assembled in Westminster Abbey, the Empire Valhalla, to honor the memory of Thomas Hardy, his own townspeople of Essex paid simple tribute at memorial services here to-day and at the Stinsford village church near here.

While great men of Britain carried Hardy's ashes to their resting place in the Abbey, the vicar of the village carried the heart, encased in a bronze casket, to where it will repose in the grave of his first wife under a great yew tree.

SUICIDE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Having left two notes, one stating his intention of taking his own life and the other a farewell letter to his mother in England, Frank Gore Thirkell, a returned soldier, was found dead in a gas-filled room at 516 Main Street, Vancouver, Saturday. The name of Thirkell's mother was given in the letter as Mrs. Louisa Thirkell, Boughton, Moncheks, Maidstone, Kent, England.

to British Columbia in May to investigate this Province's income tax auditing system. As Minister of Finance, Dr. MacLean is anxious to eliminate the duplication in the auditing of income tax returns by the Federal and Provincial authorities. At present a large business firm is liable to be subjected to the inconvenience of two complete audits of its books in a single year by officials of the two Governments. In place of this system, the Premier proposes that the audit returns of the Federal Government be made available to the Province, while those of the Provinve would be turned over to the Dominion, with each Government accepting the other's figures as authentic. While the Federal authorities made no promise that they would adopt the scheme, they agreed to investigate the Province's auditing system thoroughly in the Spring. Dr. MacLean felt that this marked a definite step forward in his proposal.

On his return here the Premier plunged immediately into Government business to complete arrangements for the opening of the House on January 24.

LEAPS FROM BLAZE IN NIGHT ATTIRE

When fire broke out on Wednesday morning at the stage base of the P.D.Q. Line, near the Qualicum Beach Hotel, C. R. Mackenzie had to leap for his life from a second story window when the flames trapped him in the upper portion of the building. Clothed only in his night attire, Mackenzie landed on bare feet after a thirty-foot drop. He injured an ankle.

The building, with all Mackenzie's property and five automobiles, was entirely demolished, according to Provincial Police headquarters at Nanaimo, who are investigating.

NEW PRAYER BOOK RULES ADVOCATED

Evangelical Group in Church of England Makes Suggestions For Changes

London, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press Cable)—Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of York, writing in The Diocese Gazette on the subject of the rejection of the new Book of Common Prayer of the Church of England by the House of Commons after it had been adopted by the House of Lords, says:

"If I may make a pardonable exception to my rule not to criticize a debate in the House of Commons, I would say that some of the most effective speeches there seemed to show very little understanding of the teachings of the new Prayer Book. As I insisted in the House of Lords, the really relevant question was not whether the proposed changes were consistent with what was vaguely called Protestantism, but whether they were consistent with the doctrines of the Book of Common Prayer."

NEW RUBRICS

The Evangelical group has sent a resolution to the bishops assuring them of sympathy in the present difficult situation, but stating their objections to perpetual reservation of the Sacrament are still unaltered. If continous reservation of the Sacrament be sanctioned, the evangelical group asked that rubics be interested in the Prayer Book as follows:

First—Defining the doctrine underlying perpetual reservation.

Second—Insertion of a rubric that the reserved elements are to be placed outside the sphere and place of public worship, for instance, in the vestry.

Third—That a statement be placed in the Prayer Book that non-fasting communion in agreeable with the practice and teaching of the Church of England.

STATEMENT AWAITED

Sir Thomas Inskip, Solicitor-General, whose speech in the House of Commons probably helped considerably toward the adverse vote on the Prayer Book, declare that if the proposed changes in the Prayer Book to be resubmitted to the House of Commons leave the substance of the book unaltered, it will produce the impression that the members of the House of Commons are being treated as children who did not know what they were doing when they rejected the book. He hopes for better things, however, from the bishops' deliberations on the matter.

MASSEY TELLS OF CANADA'S PROGRESS

Mr. Justice Riddell of Ontario Also Addresses Canadian Society of New York

New York, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press)—"If I told you all I have heard and believe to be true regarding the progress of Canada, you would believe me to be a liar."

Thus spoke in humorous vein Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States, addressing the Canadian Society of New York at a dinner in his honor Saturday evening.

"Visitors," he continued, "can not help but come back from Canada spiritually intoxicated with what they have seen."

Mr. Massey said that never before had there been reason to have such faith in the future of Canada as there was at present.

Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell of the Ontario Court of Appeal was another speaker.

"There is no more reason," he said, "for rancor between the Canadians and Americans or Americans and Britishers than there is between two sons of the same mother."

Canadian Farmers Now Visiting Britain

WATCHMAN LOST LIFE

His clothing burst into flames and he dropped 285 feet to the ground.

U.S. NAVAL PLANS ARE CRITICIZED

Newspapers of Japan Say Republic's Big Building Proposals Are Mistake

Tokio, Jan. 16.—Japanese language newspapers to-day continued to decry the recently-announced United States naval programme, saying it was inconsistent with the republic's professed desire for peace as shown by the proposal of a pact to outlaw war and the promotion of the recent Three-Power Disarmament Conference at Geneva.

The Chugai Shogyo thinks reduction of armaments is the prerequisite of an effective pact against war and says the United States would do better to reduce armaments rather than plan to increase them if the country were really sincere, especially since expansion is sure to stimulate competitive building.

DESCRIBED AS JOKE

The Miako dubs the announcement of the naval programme simultaneously with the proposal of an anti-war pact "a practical joke."

It suggests that although the expansion may not be for aggressive purposes, it is an unnecessary luxury which will cause a headache for the other powers.

The Asahi sarcastically remarks: "The United States recommends to France an extension of the treaty outlawing war, yet she recommends for herself an expansion of naval building."

WARNING VOICED

The United States is warned by The Hochi that she is antagonizing the whole world by carrying out a huge naval expansion programme to satisfy her vanity.

The Jiji, after lauding the spirit which prompted the reply of the United States to France, asks:

"But does not the proposal to carry out the naval expansion disclose the game America has played at the expense of the world?"

The same paper, after considering the expansion proposal as definitely aggressive on the part of the United States, remarks:

"There are few things so ridiculous as the remark made by the United States Government that it desires only to bring its naval strength to a certain standard regardless of other powers."

FRENCH WILL RAISE LOANS IN THE U.S.

Washington, Jan. 16.—United States bankers who have inquired repeatedly in the last three years as to the attitude of the Washington Government on industrial loans to France, have been informed by the State Department that there is now no further objection to the making of such loans.

The decision of the Washington administration represents the rescinding of the ban which was placed upon industrial loans to France or to other countries which had not made war debt settlements with the United States. Washington officials, however, had nothing to say as to this change in policy.

In a general way, it is understood the decision to revoke the ban so far as France is concerned had been under consideration for some time, since the application of this form of pressure to obtain settlements of the war debts has been ineffective.

Missions in Honan Looted by Troops

London, Jan. 16.—A Reuter dispatch form Peking says the statement issued last Friday by Feng Yu-hsiang, threatening opposition to unsympathetic foreigners in the territory his troops control apparently refers to Canadian and other missionaries in Honan, toward whom his policy already seems in force.

The dispatch says authentic news has been received in Peking that Feng's troops recently looted the premises of many Canadian Presbyterians who had evacuated the province of Honan last Spring.

A Chinese girls' boarding school at Wehaiwei, which was fitted with new equipment in 1927, was looted and burned.

Similar advices have been received from other points saying the personal property of missionaries and mission property had been destroyed or stolen. Canadian missionaries also state many of their converts have been despoiled and ill-treated, some even being tortured and killed by Feng's troops.

ELECTIONS HELD IN MUNICIPALITIES

W. H. Lembke Chosen Reeve of Point Grey; Other Mainland Contest Results

Vancouver, Jan. 16—W. H. Lembke, former reeve and councillor of Point Grey, was returned to the reeveship in the election Saturday after several years' absence from office, to wind up the affairs of the municipality in preparation for amalgamation with Greater Vancouver. Reeve J. W. Cornett was accorded the same honor in South Vancouver by more than a three-to-one majority over his rival, Councillor David Hall.

On the north shore of Burrard Inlet Reeves J. M. Fromme and V. V. Vinson of North and West Vancouver districts, respectively, were re-elected for another term. In Burnaby, A. K. McLean polled nearly as many votes as his two opponents together to resume the reins of the reeveship, after being out of office for one year.

Reeve J. W. Miller was re-elected in Richmond by a small majority.

BY-LAW VOTES

Public opinion was anything but unanimous Saturday on the question of by-laws. One measure for $75,000 out of three totaling $195,000 received the approval of Point Grey property owners. West Vancouver again disapproved of the Marine Drive and Capilano Bridge Construction By-law. Richmond passed a $75,000 Water By-law, but voted against the water meter referendum plan.

Burnaby was short 200 votes to carry the $250,000 Roads By-law, while the school measure for $93,000 passed with a small majority.

The only question before South Vancouver voters in addition to offices was a plebiscite on the proposed municipal golf course, which received a majority of 966.

MANY WENT TO POLLS

Voting generally throughout the municipalities of the Greater Vancouver district was heavy, the fusion issue in South Vancouver and Point Grey bringing an unusually large number to the polls. In the former district the contests for the council will not be definitely decided until this afternoon when counting on the basis of proportional representation will be completed.

As a change from the 1927 council, which was evenly divided between the pro and anti-amalgamationists, Councillor T. E. Bate will face the music against seven out-an-out fusionists, Councillors Brown and Reid, opponents to the merger, were defeated by Nichol Thompson and G. H. Lawrence.

The result in Burnaby Ward Three, where Councillor L. Lambert and Wilmot Hall tied with 213 votes each, depends upon a recount to-day.

In Point Grey W. H. Lembke defeated Reeve Paton and two others, the vote being W. H. Lembke, 1,790; A. Paton, 1,523; J. F. Morris, 1,156; A. D. Creer, 269.

WEST VANCOUVER

In West Vancouver Reeve V. V. Vinson was returned with a fair majority. Robert Fiddes and William Blair were elected by proportional representation to the municipal council.

In Mission the reeveship vote was: Reeve Harvey Wren, 271; Knight, 63.

The votes on the by-laws in Mission were:

Search For Copper On Isle Royale In Lake Superior

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Reported traces of ancient copper workings on the Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, will be the object of an exploration led by Eugene F. McDonald, Chicago yachtsman and explorer, aided by archaelogists from the Univeristy of Michigan, next July.

Traces of the copper workings, which McDonald thinks may have been developed by Norsemen, were reported by William Ferguson, editor of The News-Herald in Franklin, Pa., who has been doing some excavating there. The evidence of mining activity on the island consists, McDonald has been informed, of trenches, the largest of them fifteen feet deep and 500 feet long, which were cut through knolls in which copper streaks appear.

Isle Royale is part of the State of Michigan.

HOW NOT TO ADVERTISE VICTORIA

IT MAY BE THAT THE LOS ANGELES Times misquoted Mayor Pendray the other day when it reported him as saying that he had gone south to market part of his home town, that he wanted friends for Victoria, that "part of Victoria was for sale," that "it was a little bit of England on the Pacific Coast," and so on. But whether he was misreported or not, the article was a bad advertisement for the city.

The less we say either in Los Angeles or anywhere else about our reverted lots the better. It is our business to dispose of them and get them back on the tax-roll in the ordinary way of business. If we start a campaign about them abroad, outsiders will imagine there is something wrong.

The headlines the Los Angeles newspaper used over the article would convey the impression to most people that Victoria is little better than a village. The impression we should try to convey is the truth—that Victoria is an important city, advantageously situated, with a fine climate, the first and last port of call on the great North Pacific trade route, at the front door of an incalculable storehouse of natural wealth, and, as such, destined, when better known, to become a much more influential factor in the realm of trade and commerce than most of us realize at the present time.

We had hoped that description as "a little bit of England on the Pacific" had been dropped from our official and unofficial advertising. Victoria is not and never can be a bit of England. It is part of the new world and must develop under new world conditions or go under. It is not an exotic plant flourishing in an unfamiliar soil.

The best way to bring people to Victoria is to tell them about our advantages and attractions. This requires the fullest possible publicity, and it is bound to obtain business. More business means less difficulty in disposing of reverted lots.

THE ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT MATters that will occupy the attention of the Parliament of Canada at its forthcoming session will be the report which the committee appointed to examine the proposal to deepen the St. Lawrence waterway recently has presented to the Government. Reports from Ottawa state that the document itself is comparately brief; but the committee advises the Government to go ahead with the enterprise, at a cost of something like $400,000,000, the economic feasibility of which seems to have been established.

It is well known, of course, that certain interests in the East, principally in Montreal, are opposed to this undertaking for various reasons, some of which are purely selfish and others fearful lest the international nature of the project may give the United States the best of the bargain. We are told that Montreal interests do not want the Montreal seaway built as a national enterprise; but, as The Toronto Globe sees it, they apparently are willing to take as much of it as they can get for their own use and pay for the development. Our contemporary bases this view on the fact that a notice recently has been filed by the Montreal and Western Canada Company seeking authority to exploit the St. Lawrence between the Quebec metropolis and Cornwall, offering to build a thirty-foot waterway in return for the power concessions. The Globe observes that this is an ambitious scheme; but explains that it is well within the range of reasonableness from the standpoint of investment. It says further:

> It would give the interests concerned control of about 75 miles of the St. Lawrence, with a waterfall of more than 210 feet, capable of producing in excess of 2,500,000 horse-power of electrical energy, or more than half of the potential energy of the entire river. The water power sought is all within Canadian territory. Quebec on the south side of the river extends nearly to Cornwall. On the north side one-third of the shore line is in Ontario and the rest in Quebec.
> What the granting of this franchise would mean to the St. Lawrence development plan and what it would mean to the extreme eastern end of this Province, it is not difficult to surmise. It would check, and possibly defeat, any plans for the eventual development of the river in the public interests, and it would compel the Eastern counties of Ontario to pay tribute to Montreal power interests for their electric light and current.

The Globe also emphasizes the fact that a bill sponsored by these interests will be introduced in Parliament and every sort of effort made to get it through. We are told, of course, that if Montreal would like to build a great industrial annex reaching into Ontario, even as far as Cornwall, it deserves all the encouragement that can be given. But Montreal interests must not be permitted to block a great national improvement, and private interests must not be permitted to get possession of power which can be developed by the public and sold to the municipalities at cost.

We may be sure that Mr. Mackenzie King and his colleagues in the Cabinet will watch every move to which selfish interests may resort in this regard and take such action as may be necessary to protect the public.

RECORD SALES OF SCHOOL LANDS

SINCE VAST AREAS OF FERTILE LAND constitute Canada's greatest single natural resource, the demand for land as shown by its price under conditions which preclude speculation, is one of the best barometers of the state of the country's agricultural progress. It is, therefore, gratifying to know that the prices obtained for school lands in the prairie provinces at the general sales held during 1927 were easily the best on record. Altogether 480,408 acres were sold for $8,983,967, which represents an average of $18.70 per acre. The lowest price obtained was $7 per acre and the highest $79, and while the latter has been exceeded in previous sales, it is not these few extreme figures, caused by local circumstances, that are of importance, but the general trend of prices.

The significance of these sales as an index of agricultural prosperity in Canada's Middle West is seen when the nature and distribution of the school lands are explained. Under the Dominion Lands Act one-eighteenth of the land area of the prairie provinces was set aside to provide funds for educational purposes in those provinces. As surveyed, each township consists of thirty-six sections of 640 acres each and two of these—sections eleven and twenty-nine in each case—are designated school lands. They are sold by auction, after an upset price has been put on them by a valuator, and in parcels not larger than a quarter section of 160 acres. The moneys received go into the School Lands Endowment Fund, which is administered by the Minister of the Interior for the benefit of the provinces concerned.

REEVE CROUCH ELECTED

ALTHOUGH LESS THAN ONE-THIRD of the municipal electorate of Saanich went to the polls on Saturday, the votes cast for the candidates for the position of reeve were divided in a fairly decisive manner. Reeve Crouch was re-elected by a majority of 397 over Councillor David Milne, the figures being 1,232 and 835 respectively, 5,535 eligible voters failing to exercise their franchise.

By his re-election on Saturday Reeve Crouch will be able to continue the policies which he has developed during the twelve months he has occupied the position. The municipality over whose affairs he presides has just come through another successful year and we may assume that 1928 will be marked by equally favorable results. We congratulate the reeve on his success. Councillor Milne's substantial vote no doubt will induce him to try his fortune next year.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A YOUNG KING'S TROUBLE

From The Toronto Globe

Six-year-old Michael of Roumania is entitled to sympathy. He has a crown and has toys, but is not allowed to wear the former and join his playmates with his drum and sword. Being neither a regular King nor a regular boy must be difficult.

ALLIED TROOPS IN GERMANY

From The Ottawa Citizen

Chancellor Mark of Germany has recently made a tour of the Rhine and in his report states that there are still 10,000 troops in the army of occupation, adding that the whip is "still a favorite method of impressing the helpless populace by Allied officers." That there are still so many Allied troops in Germany will be a surprise to many as well as the fact that they use whips on the populace.

The Things That Nag Us

By GLENN FRANK

Former editor of the Century Magazine

(Copyright)

I was once hesitating about accepting a very heavy responsibility. I did not want to undertake a task to which I might not prove equal.

I turned for advice to one of the very great business men of our time. He knew me intimately, and he was a ruthlessly honest man.

"Accept it," he said. "I think you have most of the short-comings of which you accuse yourself, but accept it, for a big job is easier to do than a small one."

I think he was right about big jobs being easier to do than small ones; and I am sure this principle applies to big and little troubles as well as to big and little jobs.

Great sorrows call out great spiritual reserves.

The things that nag us call out only a nasty temper.

James Gordon Gilkey, in his Secrets of Effective Living, quotes the following lines:

Once I read about a man who was tied down
And the ants ate him.
His fingers, his ears, his eyes, everything.
At last they even devoured his brain,
Emptying his skull bit by bit.
I am tied down, too, and little things are eating me—
The friend who calls me on the phone and talks and talks,
The agent who is determined to sell me a new mop.
The children who quarrel and will not do their lessons.
The letters that must be answered before night somehow.
The ice-man's short weight, the butcher's carelessness.
All these little things are devouring me alive.
My eyes cannot see, my ears cannot hear.
Even my brain is being destroyed.
Only the husk of me smiles wearily on and on.

More lives are ruined and more homes run on the rocks by the petty annoyances than by the major crises of life.

Civilization has largely robbed us of the challenge of great troubles; save in rare exceptions, we do not have to meet freezing or famine, plague or piracy, want or war; in major matters life is decently safe and comfortable for most of us.

But the speed and complexity of modern life have multiplied the things that nag us.

It is important to remember that most of us will meet the major crises adequately; if we make shipwreck of our lives, in nine cases out of ten it will be because we fail to handle effectively the things that nag us.

That signboards were known to the Greeks and the Romans. During the Middle Ages every trade had its emblem, some of which have survived to this day, such as the chemists pestle and motar, the barbers pole and the three balls of the pawnbrokers shop.

GAUDY CAREER OF RUM KING IS WRECKED

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—Joseph J. Parente, who started out as a tailor's helper and at thirty-eight became millionaire king of all the rum smugglers on the Pacific Coast, has reached the end of his string. The dramatic career that he built up—a career as colorful as any in the coast's history—apparently has come to its catastrophe.

Joseph J. Parente

Parente at present is being held in Canada as an undesirable alien. If he is returned to the United States, as it seems likely, he faces prison sentences on half a dozen counts. His fortune has crumbled and his organization has gone to pieces.

Though dramatic, Parente's public career began only five years ago, when he emerged from San Quentin prison after serving a term for forgery.

He got a job in his uncle's tailor shop here, and seemed destined to continue his life as an insignificant wage-earner.

BECAME RUM RUNNER

But it wasn't long before he had "got in" with the great Consolidated Exporters' Corporation, the Canadian liquor firm. And it wasn't long after that that he was a liquor runner in his own right, independently wealthy and waxing daily more powerful.

Parente controlled the ship Principio, "mother ship" of the rum fleet; a squadron of fast power cruisers and a big string of trucks and touring cars.

He would bring the Principio down from Canada laden with bonded liquor. It woul lie to, 100 miles off the coast, and transfer its cargo to the cruisers. The price there was around $20 a case. The cruisers would take the liquor ashore, landing it usually on the beach below Santa Barbara at day-break, and sell it to the wholesalers for $45 a case. The wholesaler would would sell it to the retail bootleggers for $70 a case, and the bootleggers would peddle it to "the trade" at $100 to $120 a case. In all of these transactions Parente got a percentage.

There was graft to go with this, of course. Often Parente's cargoes were landed on wharves in San Fransisco, where some official had been "fixed." One official was said to get $2 a case for sending along tips in advance of raiding parties.

A PRICE WAR

Parente soon was the leading rum smuggler of the West. Vincent Quarterero once tried to compete with him. Parente slashed prices until bonded Scotch was retailing for $50 a case, and drove Quarterero out of business.

The big money came in so easily that Parente grew over bold. He formed a partnership with Herb Madden, mayor of Sausalito, and Ralph Owen, owner of the Ambassador Hotel in San Fransisco. Owen became business manager of the firm, and Madden, who owned a shipyard, looked after the boats. Goods were landed in Madden's shipyard.

This couldn't last forever. Not long ago federal officers got wind of the situation and arrested all three men. Owen and Madden went to prison; Parente jumped his $50,000 bail and headed for Canada, but now he has been arrested there and faces deportation to the United States. If he comes back he is almost certain to join his partners in prison.

EXPLOSION INJURES THREE

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Three persons were burned, one seriously, when gasoline, with which Robert Smythe, 936 Cotton Drive, Vancouver, was endeavoring to light a fire, exploded in the kitchen of his home Sunday morning. The injured are Robert Smythe and his two daughters, Bella and Rita. All suffered severely from burns and shock and Smythe's condition was reported as serious by hospital authorities.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The motion for a writ of mandamus in connection with the West Yale election came up in Chambers this morning before Mr. Justice Martin, but was adjourned for consideration of some parliamentary points.

Victoria and vicinity—Weather Forecast—Light to moderate winds, mostly cloudy, with fog, not much change in temperature.

City Noises Cause Sufferings, Sickness, Losses, Says Prof.

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, Jan. 16.—The incalculable amount of suffering, injury to health, and loss of wealth, caused by the noise of modern street traffic, were emphasized by Professor Spooner in a lecture on "Preventable Noise and The Thinker," to the members of the Society of Women Musicians in London.

Most people, he said, claimed that they got used to noise, and that therefore it did not affect them. Hence a fallacy, which he had not seen referred to. The primary reason why hideous noises were so complacently tolerated by the vast majority was that sound always in the ear was hardly heard. Hence the danger to public health, for although noise might not be heard, the nerve force suffered, the power of the nerve-pores and corpuscles being affected by the stimulation until it declined from exhaustion.

Another common fallacy was to state that as we could not get rid of such noise we might as well learn to enjoy it.

"Our traffic noises," said the professor, "are disgraceful, and well may the editor of The Engineer suggest that gramophone records should be made of them to enable future generations to get a measure of our barbarism in these days."

A NOISE-ABATEMENT ACT

Professor Spooner urged that noisy motor omnibuses should be warned off the streets. Horns or hooters should be standardized as to pitch, and a low melodious note adopted. The use of the nerve-racking pneumatic drills for breaking up roads, etc., should not be permitted. The alarming depreciation in the value of house property on or near noisy traffic routes must amount to an appalling figure, and called for serious attention. The most serious aspect of the problem, and one which had received no attention, was the enormous loss due to the impairment of working capacity and efficiency in city and industrial life. In the aggregate the economic loss due to this kind of wastage must be staggering in amount. But the loss due to ill-health and premature death could not possibly be estimated. Noise was the thief of sleep, and a possible cause of insomnia, and he appealed to his audience to do all in their power to support his suggestion that a Public Health (Noise Abatement) Act was long overdue.

Fogs Still Baffle Efforts of Science To Dissipate Them

Reuter's Special to the Victoria Times

London, Jan. 16.—"The problem of the dissipation of fog does not seem capable of early solution," Captain F. Entwistle has informed the Royal Aeronautical Society.

It was claimed that in America a single aeroplane had been able to dissipate a cloud a mile or two long, and a thousand feet thick by sprinkling upon it a hundred pounds of sand charged to 14,000 volts, but as no further details were available it was difficult to form a definite opinion on this experiment, he said. It was a simple matter to disperse a fog artifically in a laboratory, but the step to a commercial process was a very long one.

A new automatic fog guide for aeroplanes is being tested by the R.A.F. Instruments to keep an aeroplane on its course in the air have been in use for some time. The new device enables a pilot to make a safe take-off even though he is unable to see the wings of his own aeroplane.

Industrial Leaders Urged to Take to Scientific Invention

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, Jan. 16.—The remarks of Sir J. Thomson, the celebrated scientist, on the occasion of opening a scientific laboratory at Leys Schools, Cambridge, should be taken to heart by our industrial leaders. Their fathers had made their fortunes by taking up some scientific invention which their sons simply utilized and allowed to become out-of-date.

The editor of Nature has an article on the vast importance to industry of the results of science. He bases his remarks on the annual report of the committee of the Privy Council for Scientific and Industrial Research. This report contains a good deal that is of immediate interest to the textile industry of Lancashire, and especially to the woolen industry of Yorkshire. The close scientific study of accepted operations in grading and in cleaning wool shows that the rule of thumb methods (no matter how successful in the hands of experts of great practical experience) are far behind in accuracy the results given by the microscope and by chemical analysis. A special examination of the method of removing fat and grease from wool fibres brings out some interesting facts on the means of insuring durability of the material and the best conditions for dyeing. This report should be studied by any live master weaver.

League Officials Show Interest in Havana Conference

Geneva, Jan. 16.—League of Nations officials give three reasons why they hope the Pan-American Conference, opened in Havana to-day, will be a success.

The first is that the Pan-American Union is pursuing the same general objectives of peace and international co-operation as the League of Nations. The second is that many members of the League and three members of its Council are represented in the Pan-American Conference. The last is that the conference is attempting to do on a regional basis what the League is trying to do on a world-wide basis, such as, for instance, the codification of international law.

It is predicted in League circles that Latin-American members will be in a position to suggest useful steps for the co-operation of the Pan-American Union and League at the next session of the Assembly.

Seattle to Fete Canadian Poet

Seattle, Jan. 16—Of notable interest in Seattle this week is the Tennis Club's tea on Tuesday afternoon to compliment Dr. Charles D. G. Roberts, author and lecturer of Toronto, who will give selected readings from some of his works during the afternoon.

Dr. Roberts, who is a historian, poet and novelist of note, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wanamaker during his Seattle visit.

In addition to the group of interesting readings, there will be a musical programme arranged by Adelina Carola Appleton, consisting of the compositions of Amy Worth, sung by Margaret Moss Hemion.

The two groups of songs follow:

1—"Spring Dawn," "The Shepherd," "The Little Betrothed," "Happiness."

2—"The Time of Violets," "The Little Road," "Summer Afternoon," "Midsummer."

The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Burke, Mrs. J. D. Lowman, Mme. Raymond Auzias de Turenne, Mrs. Louis Mendel, Mrs. Ernest Wanamaker and Mrs. Harvey J. Wood. Receiving the guests with them will be Mr. O. W. Tupper, president of the club and Mrs. Tupper; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pelly, Dr. and Mrs. M. Lyle Spencer, Mr. Vernon McKenzie, recently of Toronto, newly appointed dean of journalism at the University of Washington, and Mrs. McKenzie; Mrs. Belle Burns Gromer.

Inferiority Complex Of Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

This is the day of child study. Specialists of all kinds are giving advice to parents on physical, mental and moral hygiene.

"Do this to your child," they say, "don't do that," be careful of the other thing." It is all very good but not always easy to understand.

One word seems to lead all the rest! "Complex." A complex means kink. We grow up with various kinks in our brains, one of which is that we're rather of no account and don't amount to much. We allow other people to walk all over us and pipe but meekly as they do, "Please excuse us for living!"

This inferiority complex is a bad thing, a miserable thing, and an unfair thing. Seldom does a case of inferiority complex in a human being arouse pity, as it should, in the hearts of other human beings. We're a good deal like animals. If one of a pack goes down the others eat him. There is no cure for inferiority complex. The only thing to be done for it is never to let it get a start. And the only way to compass that is to begin when a child is born, and never let things happen that will humiliate him, or make him feel neglected in the big scheme of things.

If he sees other children possess things that he does not have, he will get used to it in time perhaps, and take it more or less for granted. But when some special occasion singles him out for neglect, his philosophy will not come to his aid. The hardest of all things for him to understand is why Santa Claus has deliberately neglected him. In little children there is no resentment, just a pitiful dawning of an idea that perhaps they are not worth bothering about. The beginning of a cruel complex.

VETERANS' OFFICERS FOR PROVINCE NAMED

Provincial Command of Army and Navy Veterans End Meeting Here

Delegates to the convention of the Provincial Command of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada were the guests of the Victoria unit at a banquet held in the Chamber of Commerce on Saturday night. The banquet was presided over by Charles Jasper, vice-president, in the absence, through sickness, of the president, T. Jones.

At the convention several important matters were dealt with by the provincial executive, among which was the question of disposition of the Dominion canteen fund. The command passed a recommendation calling for a round table conference of delegates from all ex-service organizations in British Columbia to discuss the canteen fund question.

The delegates were welcomed by the chairman in a few well chosen words. The reply was responded to by F. H. Wiggins of New Westminster, president of the Provincial Command, who thanked the Victoria unit for the splendid time spent by the delegates during their stay in this city. He told of how the local unit was the strongest in British Columbia, and hoped it would continue to grow.

C. G. Callin, Ladysmith delegate, stated that the unit of which he was a member and which was the youngest in the Province, always looked to Victorit for any assistance that was necessary. He also stated that the Ladysmith group would erect their own building this year.

Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P., in his short address, stated the Army and Navy Veterans had two big objectives, first, good fellowship and, second, the attempt to help others. If these two were blended together then the association would go on forever and ever.

W. Taylor, secretary of the Provincial Command, told of the relief work carried out throughout the last year. One of the big questions to be taken up in the near future was the problem of proper education for the children of ex-service men. It is planned to approach the Provincial Government with a view to obtaining a law whereby certain money will be set aside for the purpose of putting these children through high school. Such a law is now in effect in the Province of Saskatchewan.

Telling of how all the units throughout the Dominion of Canada are flourishing, George Gardiner, first vice-president of the Dominion Command, spoke for a few minutes.

S. Rawlinson, former president of the Victoria unit; A. A. Moore, delegate from Ladysmith; A. H. Down, Victoria; G. Tucker, South Vancouver delegate; L. F. Lepas, Ladysmith delegate; Capt. C. F. L. Money, secretary of the Victoria unit, and C. G. McBride, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Victoria unit, also spoke.

After discussion on the education of veterans' children at the Saturday morning session it was decided to approach the Provincial Government in an effort to obtain similar legislation to that in force in Saskatchewan. Assistance is sought to the extent of $300 for orphans of ex-service men or children of veterans whose parents are unable to pay the cost, to help them continue their education through High School. A correspondence school course is sought where children are working and cannot attend High School.

A change was made at Saturday's meeting in the constitution, whereby in future the association will meet quarterly. The next meeting will be held in Nanaimo on April 14.

Officers were elected as follows: President, F. H. Wiggins of New Westminster; first vice-president, A. A. Moore of Ladysmith; second vice-president, P. Stockdale of South Vancouver; secretary-treasurer, W. Taylor of New Westminster; chaplain, Rev. A. H. Hooper.

Three-year-old Boy Is Taken By Police For Furious Driving

Vancouver, Jan. 10.—An arrogant young man of three, disregarding the stop signal of the point man at Main and Hastings Street, at 7 o'clock, Saturday, pedaled boldly out into the heavy stream of traffic. Awed by the audacity of the youthful offender the officer left his post to halt him.

For a moment velocipede and rider were lost behind the screen of moving automobiles and street cars. Then bike and rider emerged again to put on speed before being apprehended.

At the station the daring velocipedist related his story, complaining bitterly of the injustice of being stopped by the officer. He had come across Broadway and the Cambie Street bridge, he declared. He was aged three, he said, and his name was Bobby Barbora. Did he know where he lived? Of course, with his mamma and papa, at 607 Eleventh Avenue West. In the meantime his parents had spent two anxious hours searching for their son, and later there was a joyous reunion in the matron's room at police headquarters.

"I came down the middle of the streets," said Bobby, "like the big drivers do, 'cause the curbs are bumpy, and you have to get off your seat."

Mothers' Union Elects Officers

The annual meeting of the Mothers' Union was held on Tuesday, January 10, in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, which had been made pretty and attractive for the occasion by members of the St. Mary's parish circle. There were upwards of 100 present, representatives from all parish circles, and two members from Shawnigan, who were especially welcomed by all present.

The meeting opened with a short service, after which, the correspondence being disposed of, the president read her address, which was followed by reports from the secretary-treasurer and literature secretary.

Mrs. Dickson, president of the W.A., then spoke a few words to the meeting, stressing the mutual helpfulness of these two great sister societies.

The officers for the new year were then appointed, the president, Mrs. E. E. Wootton, and the treasurer, Mrs. Blyth, going in by acclamation. The other officers were appointed as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. B. Tyrwhitt-Drake; literature secretary, Mrs. Clowes; secretary, Mrs. N. Llewelyn Thomas.

Rev. A. de L. Nunns, rector of St. Mary's, spoke a few words and gave the blessing, after which the social part of the afternoon began, tea being served by a very able committee of ladies representing the various parishes.

The biggest ocean wave ever measured was 675 feet long.

At the centre of the aristocracy in royalty and art stood Frederic Francois Chopin, the master of piano playing. Chopin, born in Poland in 1809, had his greatest years in Paris, interwoven in a love affair with the famous novelist, "George Sand," and encircled by the leading lights of society, music and literature. For he was a genius from his early boyhood. At nine he played in concert and improvised pieces. He was a master pianist and a master composer. His "Barcarolle" and "Fantasies," his "Cradle Song" and "Preludes," besides many of his other selections, are well known. Yet he could not continue his great work for long for he was always physically weak and couldn't stand the strain imposed by his social duties. He died therefore, at the age of forty, a weakling aggravated by his disappointment in his affair with George Sand.

Women's Fairy Tales Too Well Known

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The trouble with most fairy tales is that they end too well. "The beautiful princess marries the handsome prince and they live happily ever after." They pass into a Maxfield Parrish land of castles on hilltops, an eternal moon, gardens, peacocks, and golden coaches.

That is the little girl's conception of marriage—the end of everything; no more troubles, no more going to bed at eight o'clock, no more lessons, no more over-shoes, scales, and all the drab everydayness of living.

As she passes into young womanhood, her ideas are less hazy but usually quite as magnificent. Being wordly-wise, she isn't too particular about the gardens and peacocks. A golden coach would be very nice but give her a crack little car of her own. For every item in the little girl's dream world, indeed, she has a substantial substitute. The castle has resolved itself into a fashionable apartment "where there is absolutely nothing to do." She looks on marriage, as the child did, as a sort of sublimated release.

In the old days, a girl knew more about the inside workings of a home. She knew, under all her dreaming, that she would have to put her shoulder to the wheel and help things along. She hoped to improve on her mother's situation, but she had a pretty straight idea that the happiness of her future home depended on her and her effort to make something out of it.

If it happened after all that the man she fell in love with was poor she made the best of it. If he lived in a mining town or in the desert, she packed up and went stoicly along. If he was a farmer she turned farmer's wife on his account. She knew pretty well how to adjust herself.

The girl of to-day is less domestic. She cannot do this adjusting, it seems. She sticks to her dream of very material happiness. If it fails her there is trouble. Men must stay where their work is, moreover they must do the work they are fitted for. They are as much the victim of circumstances as women.

Someone has to do the adjusting. Who is it to be? Men can't and women won't; it is the old story of the irresistible force and the immovable object. What is the answer?

Dean Brock will deliver the fourth of his series of lectures on "Problems of the Pacific," on Thursday next, at 3.15 p.m., at Victoria College, the subject being "The United States and the Pacific." These lectures have been of great interest to a large number of people, and a good attendance of members of the University Extension Association and their friends is expected next Thursday

English is spoken by about 260,000,000 people.

While she could not say the same of some of the arrangements for the care of neglected and dependent children, during her visit last week among government and children's aid officials and field workers, she found evidence of a sincere desire to place the Province on a high plane and that definite progress had been made towards this end.

A KERCHIEF COLLAR

New and arresting is the kerchief collar, which knots on the shoulder with one end falling down the front and one the back. It emphasizes the importance of kerchiefs even on formal attire. Supple silver brocade fashions the bodice of this imported dinner gown, while transparent velvet in a new rich blue makes the gracefully full skirt, with its swathed hip-line.

YOUR BABY and MINE
by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

CAP FOR EARS WHICH TURN OVER

Mrs. C. M. writes:

"Can I do anything for the ears of my four months old daughter, which double over, no matter how hard I try to keep them back? I am afraid they will grow away from her head. She wants to sit up and I am so afraid of her back. Would you advise this or not?"

ANSWER

You can buy a cap, especially designed for this trouble, in the baby department of any store carrying infant necessities. They are of net, reinforced with tape around the edge and over the ears. The baby can wear the cap when going to sleep so that when he rolls his head about, the ears will not be pressed forward.

Do not prop the baby up at this age. He sits on your lap at some time in the day probably and this is enough.

Mrs. H. T. writes:

"Can I give my twenty-one months old baby raisins? She loves them, but I was not sure of them."

ANSWER

It would be preferable to use the raisins after cooking for the possibility that the raisins may be old and wormy. In moderate amounts they would not be any harder to digest than prune pulp.

Mrs. B. R. D.

The three hour schedule for the seventeen months old child is very good. Your idea of putting an elevation on the shoe sole would be helpful only for the child who toed-in. Flat feet had better be treated by exercises, don't you think? This is a big question and a blanket statement, such as yours, would I am afraid hardly cover all cases of late walking.

Miss R. E.

Thank you for your note. The coincidence of our names is unusual, but I find an innumerable number of Eldreds in the world. They write me from every state. Sorry but it is a "married" name.

FRUIT MEN GATHER TO DISCUSS ALL MARKETING ISSUES

Barrow to Address Provincial Convention; Market Law Under Review

All problems before the fruit industry of British Columbia will be discussed at the annual convention of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, which opened in Kelowna to-day. Features of the programme will be an address by Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, on "Marketing Legislation," and a speech by J. A. Grant, Prairie Markets Commissioner, on "Observations on the Workings of the Marketing Act on the Prairies."

These addresses are awaited with interest as the most important question before the convention will be that of agricultural marketing and the operations of the new British Columbia marketing law. After F. M. Black, chairman of the interior committee of direction, has told the convention of his work in handling the fruit and vegetable crop of the interior in 1927, the convention will engage in a general round-table discussion on marketing.

As a result of this discussion, definite representations will be made to the Legislature on proposed changes in the marketing law to make it more effective. While the fruit industry so far has not proposed any drastic changes in the law, some amendments will be discussed with a view to making the measure operate more efficiently in some details.

NEWLY FORMED REAL ESTATE FIRM OPENS

George C. Grant and Thomas Hope Opening New Firm; Have Faith in Victoria

Possessing unquavering faith in the future of Victoria, George C. Grant and Theodore Hope, both well known residents of this city opened a real estate firm at 642 Fort Street this morning and are now ready for business which they think will be steady from the beginning. As both men have had long experience in office and banking work they are well qualified to carry on their business which will comprise various kinds of insurance, general real estate and similar lines of business.

Mr. Grant, the senior member of the firm, has been engaged in the banking business for the past twenty years, and in this way is capable of giving expert advice to prospective clients in the matter of investment. Mr. Grant was originally with the Merchants' Bank of Canada, and has been with the Bank of Montreal for the last fifteen years.

At the outbreak of the Great War, Mr. Grant left Victoria with the original unit of infantry and went direct to France, where he was wounded and later taken prisoner and held captive in Germany until after the Armistice. He is well-known in athletic circles in Victoria particularly for the part he has played in rugby, cricket and tennis.

The junior member of the firm, T. Hope, is also well-known in Victoria. He is the son of H. P. Hope, headmaster of Brentwood College and served with the R.A.F. during the Great War.

Both members of the new real estate firm of Grant & Hope are enthusiastic about the real estate future of Victoria and feel that the time has now come for the city to advance along these lines. Carpenters were busy at the Fort Street store this morning in putting last minute repairs and alterations in the building. Mr. Grant and Mr. Hope said they would start in with their office work the first thing tomorrow morning.

"Valley of the Giants" Is Screen Showing At Capitol

Milton Sills Plays Leading Part in Thrilling Drama; Stage Presentations Include Girl Dancers and Male Quartette

Paul Hurst, the First National player who portrays on the screen the meanest villains that ever stole the papers or tore up the child, played in Peter B. Kyne's story, "The Valley of the Giants," with Milton Sills. The picture is now at the Capitol Theatre. Between battles with Sills, Hurst explained how he came to be an actor.

He was with the U.S. geological survey when a young man, and when he had learned all there was to know of the business, an export came along and told him that Mt. Lassen, in California, was an extinct volcano. Paul then sat down and showed, by all the various scientific indications, how the expert was wrong, mistaken and in error.

Just about a year late Mt. Lassen astonished the natives by blowing off the top of her pick and spreading it over the entire country side.

"Right then I decided I was an actor," Paul explained.

Statisticians are still figuring how many screen beatings nice leading men would have missed if Mt. Lassen has stayed put.

On the stage at the Capitol Theatre this week in addition to the big picture bill, are the Richardson Twins, two extremely versatile girl dancers, who appear in a dainty dance offering, which is excellent. The other big stage presentation introduces the Queen City Male Quartette, a very talented aggregation of soloists, who sing songs you like, in a decidedly likable way. This act will prove to be exceptionally good in the way of male quartettes, and they have been received very enthusiastically wherever they have appeared. They will appear twice daily at the Capitol Theatre, and three times on Saturday.

Distinguished Cast Supports Barrymore In Variety Picture

"When a Man Loves" Opens To-day for Week's Run

The swords used in "When a Man Loves" at the Variety Theatre, starring John Barrymore and directed by Alan Crosland are not flat blades, sharp on one or both edges, of the kind in common use to-day, but bona fide rapiers of the period of Louis XV of France.

Mr. Barrymore, who is an authority on the period, explains, that these blades were longer than the ordinary dress parade sword and were extremely light and flexible.

"In "When a Man Loves," in which John Barrymore stars, he is supported by Dolores Costello and a distinguished cast including Warner Oland, Sam De Grasse, Holmes Herbert, Tom Santschi, Charles Clary, and many others.

SAYWARD INSTITUTE ASSISTS FARMERS

Sayward, Jan. 16.—Many activities during the year were reported at the annual meeting of the Sayward Farmers' Institute held at the Community Hall on Tuesday.

There was a fair attendance of members and the meeting opened promptly at 2 p.m., the president, Joseph Lewis, occupying the chair. The directors' report showed that the following members held office during the year: J. Lewis, president; J. Wilson, vice-president; G. A. Browning and H. O. Sacht, directors; A. Henry, secretary-treasurer; J. B. Howes and W. A. Milne, auditors, and A. Henry, standing delegate. The institute had a membership of forty, and there were eight regular meetings held during the year. Advantage was taken of the pruning school given by the Department of Agriculture, one being held early in March, under R. Randal, covering most of the orchards of the valley during the three days practical instruction and also a lecture in the Community Hall to which all were invited. The standing delegate while on a visit to Victoria attended the annual meeting of District "A" Vancouver Island Farmers' Institutes held there, assisting the endeavors of this institute to obtain reductions in transportation rates and protective game regulations for farmers. The continued efforts of this institute were crowned with success, in both instances, due mainly to the secretary of the advisory board of Farmers' Institutes, C. Whitney-Griffiths. Certified seed potatoes were distributed to all the children attending both Sayward schools. Attention was brought to the Public Works Department of the very dangerous condition of the rock-cut road to the Sayward wharf, it being surveyed and recommendations made to have that work included in next year's programme. This institute endorsed a resolution by the Saltair Farmers' Institute, recommending "the passage of legislation, which will reduce to a minimum the employment of Orientals in lumber mills of the Province." During the year donations were made to the Community Club, Confederation Diamond Jubilee Celebration Committee and the Sayward Agricultural Fair, and assistance given the Women's Institute with their efforts to raise funds for the improvement of the cemetery site. The part taken by this institute in the Agricultural Fair last year shows that the success of same was mainly due to the support and interest taken by its members, who subscribed nearly three-quarters of the funds, practically did all the work attached thereto, and forty of the prizewinners were either members or of their families. This institute put itself on record as being in favor of government health insurance in British Columbia. A fair amount of business was done through the institute with feed, supplies and stumping powder. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: D. Davies, president; W. A. Milne, vice-president; H. Lewis and J. Wilson, directors; A. Henry, secretary-treasurer; F. J. Harris and J. B. Howes, auditors, and A. Henry, standing delegate.

Sayward weather conditions during the past week have been very favorable; commencing with the last of the heavy rainstorms, which removed all the snow, we have had five fine days, drying things up and causing the pansey blossoms to come out full and vigorous, despite two months under the snow. There has been a slight frost the last two days of the week.

Don Alvarado Has Made Great Strides To Picture Fame

Determination Helped Young Actor on Coliseum Screen This Week

The vaudeville surprise at the Coliseum this week, is The Great Nelson, and Bros., acrobats, contortionists and band-cuff experts; just off the big-time circuits, who will present three complete acts. These boys come as a pleasant surprise for the patrons, as there has not been an acrobatic act at the Coliseum for over a year. Opening the vaudeville bill is, George Green, offering snappy selections on the bano.

After five years in motion pictures, Don Alvarado finds himself in the position of a young man with the leading male role opposite Constance Talmadge in "Breakfast at Sunrise," showing this week at the Coliseum, and the promise of an unusual screen future.

Starting in the game as an "extra," without previous stage training, Alvarado boasted only of a strong desire to make good and while there were many trying periods in between jobs, he never admitted defeat.

He advanced rapidly from mob scenes to "bits" and then "parts," and eventually to a contract with Warner Brothers which lasted a year. The Fox Studio, believing him to be a good leading man' type, singned him to make three pictures. In the last of these he made such a tremendous impression on Constance Talmadge that she decided to have him for her leading man.

Beau Geste Opens At Columbia Theatre With Ronald Colman

Noah Beery Portrays Remarkable Character in Feature Picture

The most brutal and at the same time the most valiant character ever offered for a screen portrayal is that which Noah Berry Portrays in Paramount's "Beau Geste," now showing at the Columbia Theatre with Ronald Colman in the title role.

Such is the belief of Herbert Brenon, who has been in motion pictures more than ten years and who directed this dramatic story of the French Foreign Legion.

"Beau Geste" depicts Beery as a sergeant in the legionary forces on the Sahara, a giant who loves to punish his men for the pleasure of it but who is the finest soldier in the service, —a man absolutely without fear.

The desert scenes of "Beau Geste" were filmed on the American Sahara," along the Mexican border in southwestern Arizona.

New Plane Services In Canada Urged

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—"Any country which does not use aircraft for commerce and defence will be rapidly left behind in the coming generation, and Canada alone, among civilized countries, has not one properly organized mile of air line or one organized airport."

Outlining the aims of the Canadian Air League, General MacBrien said efforts would be made to have aeronautics incorporated in the curricula of technical schools and colleges.

Epic of Life In Big Cities On Dominion Screen This Week

Sequence Showing Titanic Sinking One of Finest Things Ever Done on Screen; Orchestra and Musical Acts Featured on Big Bill

George O'Brien, Virginia Valli and J. Farrell Macdonald play the leading roles in Allan Dwan's picture based on Felix Reisenberg's novel, "East Side, West Side," which opened an engagement to-day at the Dominion Theatre.

The leading role is a natural for George O'Brien and couldn't have fitted his talents any better if the author had had him in mind when writing.

The story of "East Side, West Side" is hailed as an epic of life in the big cities. Its author, Felix Riesenberg, was acclaimed as a genius of the first water when it reached the stands. It tells of a youth born on an East Side barge who rises through sheer grit, first to become a Ghetto prize fighter, later an engineer.

There is a sequence showing the sinking of the Titanic which is one of the finest things ever done on the screen. The acting of the cast is superb and Allan Dwan has directed the filming with an eye to detail that leaves nothing to be desired.

On the stage Jack and Ted Dale will present, every matinee and evening during the entire week, a unique musical act. They are Hollywood boys who are entertainers at present touring over the Capitol Theatre circuit. Victoria will welcome this opportunity of hearing them before they return to Los Angeles. Their act includes xylophone solos and piano and singing numbers.

On Monday evening at 8.30 the Crystal Garden Orchestra will present another delightful programme of semi-classical and dance hits. This clever band of musicians is becoming more popular with Dominion patrons every appearance.

"Bohemian Girl" In Operafilm At Playhouse

Novel Presentation of Pictures and Balfe's Opera for Three Days

The latest development of the operatic stage and screen called "Operafilm," will be presented at the Playhouse to-night, using Balfe's glorious opera, "The Bohemian Girl," as a vehicle, for both the opera cast. "Operafilm" was invented by Basil Horsfall, eminent English composer and conductor, and the music and opera, sung and staged, by leading artist principals and chorus, on the stage, in person, are from the "National Opera Company."

In this production are starred such celebrities as Ellen Terry, Glayds Cooper, Constance Collier and Ivor Novello. The operatic singers include Theo Pennington, prima-donna soprano, and Carl Bundschu, baritone. Marceres Dalmada, dramatic soprano; Franklin Meeker, tenor, and Fred Wheeler, basso, all fine opera soloists. This combination can be found only in "Operafilm." The production necessitates the full cast of operatic singers, in costumes, a musical director, augmented orchestra, with special miniature stage, and many novel scenic arrangements. This great novelty has been cordially received in Canada, and is now making its first tour of the Pacific Coast. Canadian critics and audiences alike have been most enthusiastic, and its first presentation here for there nights and a Wednesday matinee at the Playhouse will be awaited with keen interest.

Seat sale now at the Playhouse box office, and special prices for all young people of the city.

When placed in a vacuum, water boils at a temperature of about fifty degrees.

ALLOW GREATER USE OF INTERIOR WATER FOR POWER

Kootenay Company Permitted to Double Diversion For Electricity

Greater utilization of the Kootnay River for power purposes was approved by the Government in a formal order in council promulgated this week. This order allows the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, the large interior power concern, to divert 4,500 to 5,000 cubic feet of water per second from the Kootenay, in addition to the amount already allowed. Altogether the concern will be permitted to use 10,000 cubic feet per second in its growing power operations.

Officials explained that this extra diversion is apart altogether from the companys plans for a giant new power project with the erection of a dam at Granite, and the control of Kootenay Lake levels.

As this scheme would affect the level of the Kootenay River, running through United States as well as Canada, it must receive the approval of the International Joint Commission on Boundary Waters. The project, it is expected, will go before the commission next Summer. At present the West Kootenay Company is busy preparing final plans and other information for the use of the commission in ruling upon the proposal to dam the river.

OFFERED $4,000 FOR MURDER SAYS LETTER

New Evidence Given at Cumberland Stabbing Case Hearing

Cumberland, Jan. 16.—New angles on the Cumberland stabbing case were brought out to-day at the preliminary hearing before Stipendary Magistrate John Conway, in the case of Chen Mee, thirty-five years of age, committed on the charge of murdering Chen Fong Mun, fifty-four, who died at 2 p.m., December 30, in the Cumberland General Hospital following a stabbing affray in the Pekin chop suey house, 36 Sing Chong Street, Chinatown. A letter purporting to be written by the accused, who was arrested in the basement of the Chinese Free Mason's Hall about two hours after the stabbing was committed by Corporal Matthews and Police Constable Fenton of the provincial police, stationed at Courtenay, states that he was offered $4,000 to kill a person whose name is not mentioned.

The evidence closely followed that given at the inquest on January 5, with the exception of that of Special Constable Bell, who did not testify at the previous inquiry. Exhibits entered included the broken blood-stained knife blade and handle found on the floor of the restaurant, the clothing worn by the deceased, three woolen sweater vests, an under-vest and under-drawers all blood-stained, the clothing taken from accused after arrest, and several articles taken from his room in the Dart Coon Club, also blood-stained, a passport found in accused's room bearing his photograph, blue prints of the ground floor of 36 Chinatown, and photographs of the exterior and interior of the building.

Dr. Geo. Kerr MacNaughton stated that he was called to Chinatown at about midnight, December 29, and in 36 found a man, Chen Fong Mun, who had been stabbed in the right side. The doctor expressed the opinion that the stabbing must have been done with great force, and presuming the murderer to have been a right-handed man, either when the deceased was lying on his left side, or when approached from the rear. The doctor identified the clothing produced in court as that taken from the deceased at the hospital, and stated that the deceased wore no shoes or socks.

Dong Wong, Chinese witness, stated that he knew both deceased and accused. On the night of December 29 at about midnight, he heard cries for help and heard the words, "Chen Mee struck me." He saw accused come from the door of 36 and cross the street.

Constable W. V. Fenton of the provincial police stationed at Courtenay, related the events leading up to the capture of the accused on the morning of December 30. While in charge of Constable Fenton, accused asked if Chen Mun was badly hurt, on receiving the answer that witness did not know, he said, "Too bad, I get too mad, I go crazy, he my cousin, too bad."

Corporal Robert Matthews of the provincial police, Courtenay, repeated his former evidence regarding the events of the night of December 29 and the morning of December 30.

The Chinese interpreter present in court, was called upon to briefly outline the contents of the letter produced as one accused wrote since he has been in jail. He stated it was written to some person whose name was not definitely mentioned. The gist of the letter was that the accused Chen Mee, had been offered $4,000 to kill a certain party, and $500 if he wounded him.

This evidence closed the case for the crown. The accused declined to make any statement, and no witnesses appearing in his behalf. The accused was committed to stand his trial at the Nanaimo Spring Assizes on charge of murder.

BURIAL PARK EARNS SURPLUS FOR YEAR

Annual Report Shows Finances of Cemetery Trustees on Sound Footing

The annual report of the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria shows that the Royal Oak Burial Park is now on a sound financial footing, with a cash balance of $867.01 to bring forward to 1928, after making all provision necessary for sinking and maintenance fund.

The sinking fund to retire the debentures now stand at $9,730, represented by investments costing $7,630 and $2,100.61 cash in bank.

The maintenance fund, built up of payments of $3 from the proceeds of each grave plot sold, now amounts to $3,321.71, with investments of $1,976.75 and cash in bank $1,352.96.

In his report as chairman of the board, Alderman John Harvey points out that the cemetery is experiencing greater use as the years pass. In 1927 the board sold 413 graves, with 293 interments made, the revenue being $17,938. This compares with the 1926 sales of 351 plots, 256 interments and an income of $15,299.

Accounts owed Victoria City and Saanich totalling $893.59 were paid, leaving unsettled only the debt of $2,250 to each body, borrowed in 1925 to enable the trustees to make depoists in the funds required by law. Chairman Harvey advises that these loans, which bear six per cent interest, be extinguished as soon as possible from surplus earnings.

To date the trustees have sold 1,066 grave plots in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Richardson won first prizes, the second honors going to Mrs. Ward, Miss H. Maher, S. Fox and J. Osborne. Refreshments were served after the game by the hostesses, Mrs. Lacoursiere and Miss Maher.

The next game will be held on Wednesday, January 25.

Keating

Keating, Jan. 16.—The Young People's Club of the South Saanich United Church have cancelled the meeting for next Tuesday, January 17. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, February 7. The members will present their annual play in the Temperance Hall on Tuesday, January 24, at 8 o'clock. The play, a comedy-drama of three acts, is entitled "Safety First," and has a cast of eleven and promises to be as popular this year as in previous years. The play will also be presented at Colwood Hall on January 26, and at the Sidney Auditorium on January 31.

The South Saanich Women's Institute spent a busy day at the wool bee held at the Temperance Hall on Thursday, there being a good attendance of workers.

Mr. Walker of Saanichton is visiting at Shawnigan.

The Ladies' Aid of the South Saanich United Church held a well-attended meeting for the month of January in the church parlor on Thursday afternoon. The president, Miss Lillian Dearing, was in the chair and the secretary's report was read by Miss Alma Heyer. It was announced that the annual congregational meeting this year would be held jointly with the Sidney circuit and would take the form of a banquet to be held at Sidney early in February. The Ladies' Aid decided to assist with the affair and committees were appointed. At the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray of North Saanich are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, at Mrs. Walker's Nursing Home, Saanichton, on January 27. Mr. and Mrs. Inglis of James Island are also receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on January 9, at Mrs. Walker's.

These wives of ours!

WE TOOK them from the shelter of their families, gave them two or three rooms and a share of our salary—then left them sitting there among the wedding presents, a bit bewildered.

But they knew how—these wives of ours. They knew how to make rooms into homes, and how to get more merchandise out of a dollar bill than we ever could. We're lucky to have wives. How do they do it?

Look through this paper, day after day. You will find advertisements covering almost every human need. They are filled with hints for the household, hints for health, hints for clothing, hints for keeping young. They are virtually little essays on life. No wonder these wives of ours follow them so carefully. As one wise wife said: "It isn't so much that I know housekeeping so well. I know where to learn it!"

Most advertising is prepared especially for women. Read it. It forms an authoritative textbook on good housekeeping

Great Boom Across West Growing, Says Grain Man

A speculative boom of unprecedented proportions for Canada has started in Manitoba and is spreading westward through the prairie provinces, according to H. W. Laird, Saskatchewan grain grower, who arrived in Victoria yesterday from Saskatoon to spend the Winter here with his family.

"The enormous development which is being undertaken in connection with the Flin Flon mines and the railways leading into the district, has literally turned the northern part of Manitoba into a vast mining camp," Mr. Laird said. "Since the Whitney interests of New York took the lead and put in their millions, the investment in mining enterprises in Manitoba has increased to such an extent that it is now the chief subject of interest in the greater part of the province.

"The recent accomplishments of science have been of great advantage to the farmer, and none more so than the radio, which has removed the advantage the city man has had over the farmer in obtaining news. Now every ten minutes all day long the quotations come over the radio to the farmer, sitting in his home hundreds of miles out on the prairies and he knows exactly what is doing in the markets, sooner, in fact, than the city man does, who is not sitting right in a broker's office.

"All through Saskatchewan and Alberta, as well as Manitoba, the mining and grain market quotations come over the radio all day as the prices fluctuate and as things have been pretty good the last couple of years on the prairies, everybody is now starting to invest and make profits on the rising markets, which are indicating Canadian prosperity."

Mr. Laird said that the grain markets were unusually quiet and that he fears that grain will sell lower.

"The present price for grain seems fairly high, when various factors are considered," Mr. Laird went on. "There has been an enormous crop in the western part of the prairies. There appears to be a big long interest in the market, as nearly all the farmers are holding May wheat. It looks as if the price will go still lower."

The price of most other articles on the prairies, however, is high, particularly farm machinery, Mr. Laid said. The Winter weather there has been the worst in years, he declared.

CITY'S FUTURE DEPENDS UPON SMALL INDUSTRY

Development of Every Branch of Agriculture Is Urged By H. B. Thomson

The future of Victoria as a centre of trade and as a distributing point for the products of the adjacent districts, was emphasized by H. B. Thomson, when he addressed a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Group to-day. It was by developing an irrigation system for Saanich out of Elk Lake and by encouraging the industries of the whole of Vancouver Island, that this city would reach the pinnacle of its ambition in the world of commerce, he showed.

Canada, he said, was experiencing a revival. This was brought about by hard work and co-operative effort, as exemplified by the reconstructional work of Maritime Provinces in a business way.

But, said Mr. Thomson, Victoria had been too fond of chasing rainbows.

Much could be done, he said, by tackling the smaller things first and mastering them for the advantage of the people.

"You must remember," Mr. Thomson said, "that you members of the Chamber are the intelligence department which starts and fosters movements of all sizes."

Mr. Thomson told of his work in the East when he drew to the attention of farmers of Quebec the possibilities of the maple sugar trade. They succeeded in one year in producing $7,000,000 worth of maple sugar instead of $2,000,000.

"You must take into consideration the man on the land, who is absolutely isolated and suspicious of strangers. If you men get together you can influence the agricultural communities immensely," said the speaker.

BUTTER CONSUMPTION

B.C. consumed 12,500,000 pounds of butter in a year and imported 7,500,000 pounds of this product. Mr. Thomson pointed out that if this butter were produced in this province it would mean that there would be 25,000 more cows and several hundred more farms, all of which would add to the general prosperity. The safety valve for the dairy industry was in the evaporated milk industry. There was a ready market for this commodity.

The same situation was to be found in the egg and meat markets.

Loganberry growers on Vancouver Island were afraid of over-production. What was needed, said Mr. Thomson, was a loganberry canning plant. There was never trouble in disposing of such products provided they were offered in big lots and not small parcels.

He spoke of these things, said Mr. Thomson, just to show what it was possible, in his mind, to accomplish by a little thought and effort.

Organization and brain had accomplished much in Washington, he went on, and although comparisons were odious, they were often very useful. One needed only to cross the boundary line and go into the State of Washington to realize the difference in industrial advance.

"And the Vancouver Island soil and climatic conditions are similar, and perhaps better than is the case in Washington," said Mr. Thomson.

ASPARAGUS GROWING

In the asparagus-growing field alone, Mr. Thomson continued, there was a big opportunity for the Island. On the Cowichan flats was to be found the finest possible asparagus land.

This is an answer to the man who comes to this country and asks: 'What am I going to do for a living?"

The Washington farmers made a good profit from their lands through their system of marketing and their splendid organization.

The output in eggs and poultry in Washington last year was over $20,000,000, said Mr. Thomson. Seven years ago Washington did not produce a fraction of the eggs it needed for its own consumption. Now, Mr. Thomson asserted, their eggs are at a premium in New York.

He outlined the growth of the association of poultry men of the State of Washington, and the figures showed its amazing expanse and sound foundations.

SEED AND BULB INDUSTRY

The seed and bulb industry was discussed on Vancouver Island before it was taken up in Washington. But today, said Mr. Thomson, Washington sold $10,000,000 worth of bulbs a year. Anyone who said this sort of industry did not pay, did not know the facts, the speaker declared. It required a little thought to bring about such success, he said.

Following the war came a slump in cattle prices, said Mr. Thomson, but intely the situation grew intense when it was found that the cattle population of the ranges was sadly depleted. The prices for purebred stock were always enormous. Mr. Thomson saw a bull of thirteen months sold for about $25,000 at a Perth cattle sale, and an Argentine was the buyer.

Vancouver Island could cater to a huge market, Mr. Thomson declared, both in pure-bred cattle and sheep. These were two profitable lines of business which could be developed into something very substantial, the speaker said.

"Surely if they can raise these purebred cattle in the maritimes and sell them to Idaho and at a big profit, it would be a good thing for Vancouver Island to emulate the stock-breeders of the East," Mr. Thomson urged.

In Vancouver Island's logged-off lands there were resources in the shape of turpentine and resin which might be developed after research. Scientific investigation would probably disclose a certain amount of profit for someone, Mr. Thomson said.

These were not the only things which could be done with logged-off lands. The growing of Barberry trees from which cascara was made, could be successfully developed, the speaker went on.

The market in the world was looking for quantity, Mr. Thomson stated. They [illegible] they could get the biggest volume of product, providing the quality was right.

Vancouver Island was rich in her possibilities which came out of her coastal waters, as well from her lands. Mr. Thomson said he had seen Vancouver Island cod selling in the East and Atlantic fish selling in the West, and he noted that the price which Newfoundland smoked cod brought here was many times what it was in the East. Surely, Mr. Thomson went on, fresh fish could be sold in local markets at a lower price than that shipped from eastern fisheries.

Oysters and crabs which were caught on Vancouver Island were considered by some to be the best in the world, yet they did not even control the local market.

"These may sound like small things," said Mr. Thomson, "but in the aggregate you will establish something really worth while when you have developed them. Through these things it is that Vancouver Island is going to succeed."

Mr. Thomson concluded by saying that "a city which was not going ahead was going backwards." On the Gulf Islands there were 3,000 people and all their purchasing power should be held by Victoria, he said. By developing this connection by ferry-boat Victoria could regain much business lost in years past, he declared.

Co-operation, team work among individuals, was the means to success, he said. This was his parting advice. B.C. Nicholas moved a vote of thanks.

P. B. Fowler, chairman of the group, who introduced the speaker, thanked him heartily for his helpful advice. Victoria should profit by it, he said.

SIX CITIES PLAN JOINT ADVERTISING FOR NEXT SUMMER

tain contact men in Yellowstone National Park to divert tourists there in this direction. Smaller space and more frequent newspaper advertising will replace last year's policy of large advertisements run occasionally.

Three advertising agencies submitted proposed campaigns, on which ballots were taken. It was decided to retain the joint services of the Constantine Botsford Agency, Seattle, and the Eastman Advertising Agency, Vancouver. The two firms have two years out of four won the shield awarded for the best organized community campaign. The contract with "Ask Mr. Foster" for distribution of Puget Sounders literature was renewed for another year. The demand for literature was so great last year that it was decided to issue 50,000 folders this year, an increase of twenty per cent over last year.

Informal discussion took place on the organization for community advertising of all of Washington, Portland and British Columbia. H. H. Ham, Los Angeles, vice-president, Foster Reynolds Service, Harold Ryan, Ryan Advertising Agency, W. Izzard of the Izzard Advertising Agency, gave brief talks. C. H. Brimacomb submitted a proposal to open an office in the Arcade Building, Los Angeles, which was rejected.

FOR TOURIST ADVERTISING

The Longview representative at the meeting paid a glowing tribute to tourist advertising. Industrial advertising for Longview had been carried on extensively for five years, he said. Then it had been decided to secure industrial development through tourist advertising. A new policy would be followed this year. Longview will be advertised as a tourist resort, attractions will be provided for tourists and industrial expansion will follow the influx of holiday makers it is anticipated.

Fred Crone, Vancouver, was re-elected president; Bert Huntoon, Bellingham, first vice-president; Wilbur C. Raleigh, Tacoma, second vice-president and Harold Crary, Seattle, secretary; Frank Seafrit, chairman, Bellingham; T. A. Stevenson, Tacoma; Charles H. Webster, Vancouver; George I. Warren, Victoria; F. J. MacGougan, Everett and Harold Crary, Seattle, were named the advertising committee.

DELEGATES

The delegates to the meeting were Fred Crone, Vancouver; Brenton S. Brown, president of the Vancouver Publicity Bureau; Charles H. Webster, Vancouver Publicity Commissioner; Frank Seafrit and B. W. Hunton, Bellingham; T. A. Stevenson and Wilbur C. Raleigh, Tacoma; R. H. B. Ker, president Victoria and District Publicity Bureau; B. C. Nicholas, Victoria; George I. Warren, Publicity Commissioner, Victoria; R. C. Taylor and Harold Crary, Seattle; Waldrich, Everett; C. P. Constantine and Morgan Eastman were present as advertising counsel.

IN MEMORIAM

WALKER—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Robert Hampton Walker, who was called to his Eternal Home January 16, 1926 (on his way to his earthly home and dear ones), coming off duty in the City Police Department, where he had been a faithful member for thirty-seven years. Ever dearly remembered and sadly missed by his wife and two sons and all who knew him.

PASSED BEYOND THE VEIL

When God calls home the dear ones whom we love
To dwell with Him in perfect peace above,
We cannot feel that He has loosed the tie
Which bound our human hearts on earth; so I
Find comfort in the thought that they may be
My guardian angels, keeping watch o'er me.

For sometimes when my heart and I need cheer,
These loved ones seem to hover very near.
I almost feel the touch of each dear hand
Upon my own, to help me understand
I still am theirs and they are mine, e'en though
They dwell in heaven, I on earth below.

No broken ties, but just a veil between
My earthly vision and that world unseen!
A little time to wait while loved ones there
Keep tender watch o'er me, till I may share
Their perfect peace and God's most perfect love,
Known unto those who dwell with Him above.

Margaret Jean Walker (selected).
—Inserted by his widow and two sons.

Scottish Manage to Defeat College By Scant Three Points

Only One Close Game Played in City Basketball League on Saturday

Results of the City League basketball games played on Saturday night were as follows:

C.P.S. 42, Hillcrests 27.
B.C. Telephone 30, Normal (Ladies) 7.
Normal School 49, Sons of Canada 6.
16th Canadian Scottish 25, Victoria College 22.

With the exception of the tilt between the Scottish and College all the games were one-sided and unproductive of anything startling.

Holding a fourteen-point lead at the end of the first half the C.P.S. Men's Senior "A" team were never seriously pressed by the Hillcrests, who, although they played hard, could not seem to get going properly.

Rutledge and "Bud" Hocking playing their first game for the lumbermen, each annexed ten points, while Butler of the Hillcrests gained nine.

Forbes refereed and the teams were:

C.P.S.—Rutledge 10, Dowds 4, McEachern, Hocking 10, Greenwood, Fagerburg 4, Wooldridge, Davis 6.

HIGH SCORES

Gathering together twenty-two points of their team's total, Isobel Crawford and R. Robertson, former stars of the Fidelis, materially helped the B.C. Telephone swamp the Normals.

Le Marquand refereed and the teams were:

Telephone—C. Robertson 6, I. Crawford 10, R. Robinson 12, M. Breckenridge, C. Yeamans 2, I. Philbrook.

Normal—M. Welsh 3, M. Brown 2, A. Prescott, K. Eakland, B. McMillan, B. Warden and E. House.

SONS OFF COLOR

The Sons of Canada were decidedly off their game when they were defeated by the Normal School. In the first half the losers scored but one point while the students gathered 21. The second half was practically a repitition of the first. The teams were:

Normal—Knott 8, Lucas 8, Rose 10, Thomas 16, Ross 6, Chapman 1.

Sons of Canada—Cann 1, Foubister 1, Doherty 2, Brynjolfson 2, Jack and John Taylor.

SCOTTISH HOLD OUT

Despite the attempt of the Victoria College to gain the lead in the last half the Scottish were successful and defeated the scholars by three points, the closest decision of the evening. At half time the Scottish were leading by six points.

Turgoose was high man for the army, while Manty Dunsmore scored eight for College.

Lucas refereed and the teams lined up as follows:

16th Canadian Scottish—Craig 5, Bissell 6, Turgoose 8, Turgoose 6, B. Killick and H. Killick.

College—McQueen 3, Dunsmore 8, Temple 5, Gilmour Lyons and Foubister.

Wind Bothers Men Doing Ski Jumps

Gary, Ill., Jan. 16.—A north wind upset three-fourths of the jumpers at the twenty-third annual tournament of the Norge Ski Club yesterday and cut many yards off the distance registered by the twenty-one who made two successful leaps each.

The longest leap was made by Carl Hall, of Detroit, 133 feet. Pedar Falstad, of Canton, S.D., shared honors with Hall with jumps of 127 and 124 feet. Clarence Hall of Detroit, was third with 114 and 112.

Lars Haugen, of St. Paul, national champion, fell on his first try and made no further attempt.

Nels Nelson, of Revelstoke, B.C., holder of the world's record jump of 212 feet, made two comparatively modest leaps of 107 and 111 feet.

Souders Runs Away From Ralph de Palma

Los Angeles, Jan. 16.—George Souders, winner of last years' automobile racing classic at Indianapolis, yesterday defeated Ralph de Palma, a veteran racetrack driver, on Ascot Speedway here in a match race. Souders' best time was 2.24 4-5 and De Palma's 2.26 1-5.

The match race was in five lap heats, Souders taking the first two and obviating the need of a third heat.

Souders also won the fifty-lap event over the five-eighths mile dirt track. Cliff Sergers took second and Louis Schneider third.

Souders's time was 24.54 4-5.

New Powerful Drugs Are Discovered By Indian Scientist

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, Jan. 16.— Drugs far more efficacious than any we now possess are said to have been discovered by Sir Jagadis Chandra Bose in the course of his experiments on plants.

When in England recently this Indian scientist showed how the minute movements of plant cells can be measured. He claimed that plants, like animals, have hearts which keep the sap beating through their tissues, and now he says that in testing the effect of various extracts on the pulsating hearts of plants, he has found medicinal substances which can be used to stimulate the hearts of human beings too.

These investigations, he believes, will lead to the establishment of a vast industry in India for the production of new and valuable drugs. An immense number of European medicinal substances are derived from plants and many of the most useful are only pure forms of remedies used by "wise women" and herbalists for hundreds of years.

In the same way, there are all sorts of drugs used in the East whose possibilities have not been fully explored. Doctors in this country, for instance, have just begun to employ a powerful substance called ephedrine, which is extracted from a plant prescribed by Chinese physicians for 5,000 years.

Huffman's Strong Left Hand Proves Storch's Undoing

Charlie Storch, local light heavyweight, who has cleaned up everything on the Island at his weight, ran into a tough left hand on Saturday night in the main event of the card staged at the Tillicum Club. The left hand belonged to Ray Huffman of Seattle and it taught Storch a lot of things.

It took Huffman about thirty seconds in the first round to find out just what Storch had in the way of boxing equipment. Once he found that Storch had little variety he began banging away with his left hand and easily outpointed the local boy. Storch stuck to his guns gamely but could not measure up to the visitor.

NOT MUCH ACTION

There was not a great deal of action in the other bouts, two of which finished in such a way as to bring the referee, Scotty McKay, into disfavor with the fans. Tim Keist, a good local boy, who has been on a winning streak of late, fouled Bruce Low and the verdict was given to the latter. Keist had piled up a big lead on points, but he hit low and Low went out. In another bout Hudson went through the ropes in the first round of his bout with Pastro. Hudson fell on his head and became unconscious. When Hudson was unable to resume fighting the referee had to give the verdict to Pastro.

Cliff Dawley and Harold Bailey had a hot spasm for a time but the latter packed the most dynamite and won the judges' decision.

Clarence Leask continued on his merry way by getting Arthur Coates in such a bad way that the fight was stopped and Leask won on a technical knockout.

Kirkham proved no match for Shouldice and the fight was stopped in the second round to save the former from further punishment.

Another bout which ended in the second round was that between Frank Hall and Sharpe. The latter was in a bad way and the fight was stopped.

C. Milton won the judges' decision over Tommy Drysdale. DeCosta got the call over Richer and Proby beat Sutton on points.

Another tournament will be held by the Tillicums next Saturday.

PRO SCULLING MAY BECOME A POPULAR SPORT

Barry May Defend Honors at New York; Wants to Make Money Off Title

If American Metropolis Takes Hold Sculling Will Make Great Headway

Professionl sculling may become a very popular sport upon this continent within the next few years. It is within the range of possibility that Bert Barry, of London, world's pro sculling champion, will defend his title against Major Goodsell, of Australia, former champion, on the Hudson's River, with New York sportsmen providing the purse.

Within recent years Australia, New Zealand and England have been practically the sole patrons of this sport. Most of the professional scullers have hailed from these countries and the races have been rowed on courses dictated by the champions.

AMERICANS BIDDING

Barry paid a visit to this city this week en route from Vancouver to his home in England and, in discussing the future of professional sculling, dropped a word or two which make it look as though American promoters are anxious to take hold of the sport.

It is understood that Goodsell will be given the first chance at winning the title now resting on the head of Barry. Goodsell showed the best of sportsmanship in letting Barry have two shots at the crown within three months at Vancouver, when he might have put the title away in cotton-batting and moth-balls like so many champions in other sports do.

GO TO HIGHEST BIDDER

It was first given out that Barry and Goodsell would row their third race on the Thames, with London promoters putting it on. There has come a turn in the stacking of the cards, however, and Barry admitted while here that the race would go to the highest bidder and intimated that New York was in the field.

Since Barry and Goodsell decided to settle their rowing difference in Vancouver the sculling game attracted considerable attention on this continent. It has given the sport much added prestige, particularly in the United States, where they are always looking for some new sport, which has a thrill.

EXPENSIVE BUSINESS

Barry is not worried about where he defends his title nor when, but he wants to be sure of making considerable money out of it. Although Barry was a little reluctant in discussing his financial affairs other members of his party made no secret of the great expense Barry had been under in winning the title. Now he wants to make some money off his title.

If New York goes in for sculling it will become a sport of world-wide magnitude. While boxing was being conducted in the backwoods and championship fights were being staged in small towns, the purses never got very big but the minute New York took hold the game grew with lightning rapidity and now purses looked like bank reserves. The same goes for ice hockey. The professionals struggled along in Eastern and Western Canada for many years. Then New York began to take notice, bought a team and then a second one. Other American towns came in. Now look where hockey is.

Barry is going back to receive the adoration of his fellow-countrymen but after that they will have to show him real money if they want him to row before them.

Woman Fights Sleep In Test For Motor Endurance Record

London, (by Mail)—Captain the Hon. Victor and Mrs. Bruce concluded their nine days' run, having covered 15,000 miles in 220 hours 32 minutes 54 38-100 seconds at an average speed of a fraction over sixty-eight miles an hour. The large crowd enthusiastically applauded this performance, which is approximately twelve miles an hour. The large crowd enthusiastically applauded this performance, which is approximately twelve miles an hour better than the previous record for the same distance held by Miss Violet Cordery.

Interviewed a few minutes after she arrived at the Chateau near the Montlhery racing track, Mrs. Bruce said:

"The most terrible moment of all the ride was one night when he skidded on the track while going at eighty miles an hour. Several private cars were standing at the bottom of the track near the supply depots, so" she added with a shrug of the shoulders. "I hung on to the wheel like grim death. I missed the cars by less than half a yard. After righting my car I kept on driving for four hours. I was, however, very shaken, and when my husband relieved me I particularly warned him to drive slower. The red lights round the track were the only illumination, and it was most misleading to look at them."

Mrs. Bruce added that another factor with which she had had to contend was that she had been in the habit of going to bed at 9.30 every night before the test, and at that time during the ride she was nearly always falling asleep.

"It was a terrible moment fighting against drowsiness," she said.

Describing her husband's accident, she said it broke him up and he was obliged to refrain from driving during the last day. She added that his escape was simply a miracle, and it was only the windscreen that saved him. He was seven minutes under the car wondering whether it had not already started to take fire before the mechanics arrived and pulled

Leo Diegel and Bill Mehlhorn Turn in Surprising Cards and Split First Money in Long Beach Open Golf Tournament; Diegel Misses Six-foot Downhill Putt by an Inch and Loses Chance to Win First Prize for Himself

George von Elm, of Los Angeles, former national open champion, won the low gross trophy for amateurs with 288.

Mehlhorn was leading Diegel two strokes at the start of the final nine holes. They were all even when "Wild Bill" drove out of bounds, but came back and sank a thirty-foot putt for a par five. AGEING DEMPSEY ONLY BOXER TO TACKLE TUNNEY

Rickard Will Try to Get Champ to Agree to Only One Bout This Year

Sharkey and Heeney Disappoint; Delaney Shaping Up For Big Shot

New York, Jan. 16. — Tex Rickard is making plans to visit Miami on Wednesday to confer with Tunney.

"All I know," Rickard said regarding plans in connection with selecting a challenger for Tunney for a bout in June, "is that Tunney and Jack Dempsey will fight this year.

The Sharkey-Heeney outcome has upset all my plans and the outlook among the present heavyweight possibilities is not very encouraging. I plan to suggest to Tunney to engage in only one fight this year and that against Dempsey in September. Outside of Dempsey there does not appear to be any one I can develop for a championship bout."

New York, Jan. 16—Without the necessity of lifting a finger in his own behalf, Jack Dempsey started out more prominently than ever as the main heavyweight title threat of 1928.

Ageing though the "Manassa Mauler" may be, critics still place him head and shoulders above any of the present crop of contenders.

At their present rate most of the other heavyweight aspirants, experts think, will have eliminated themselves by Spring, unless there is a startling reversal of form.

CANNOT BALLYHOO THEM

On their latest showing, neither Tom Heeney nor Jack Sharkey, picked as two of the outstanding contenders, can be ballyhood into a title match, although the fact that their match was declared a draw leaves room for further argument and another substantial gate.

Of the others, Jack Delaney, if he can get over his tendency of being an in-an-outer, loomes as the most likely candidate for a big shot. If Tunney is to have two championship bouts it would seem now that Delaney has a good chance of being one of the title-holders' opponents, with Dempsey figuring in the other clash.

Or, if there is only one title tilt, a final elimination between the two Jacks—Delaney and Dempsey—would furnish an attractive melee.

BUILDING HIM UP

There is little question that Delaney's backers have high hopes of building him up for one of the main bouts of the year. The erratic French-Canadian always has been a big drawing card from the time he knocked out Paul Berlenbach four years ago. If he can successfully negotiate one or two more tests, Delaney will be sitting pretty in fistic row.

New York, Jan. 16—Rival boxers in quest of heavyweight laurels will battle in New York to-night, but in different arenas.

Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, former world's light heavyweight champion, will begin what he considers a comeback campaign, meeting Sully Montgomery, a rugged Texan, in the main ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas Club.

Meanwhile Paolino Uzcudun, reputed Basque woodchopper, will stack up against Ed. Keeley, Boston southpaw, in a ten-round stellar attraction at the new Broadway Arena in Brooklyn.

Delaney is pointing for a match with Johnny Risko of Cleveland at Madison Square Garden.

Montgomery will have an advantage over Delaney in bulk and reach, but the latter is the better schooled in ring skill.

Delaney scored an impressive victory when he knocked out Paul Berlenbach in six rounds in Chicago recently.

FULFILLING AGREEMENT

The Paolino-Keiley affair derives most of its importance from the controversy waged by Paolino in opposing the Bostonian. Last Summer, Paolino was suspended by the Massachusetts commission for failure to meet Keeley and, in accordance with the Bay State action, the New York solons imposed a like suspension. Paolino was banned in the ring until a satisfactory adjustment was made with promoter Eddie Mack of Boston.

The banner bout of the Garden Friday night brings together Lew Tendler of Philadelphia and Ace Hudkins, Nebraska wildcat, in a ten-round welterweight duel.

Each of these stars of the links turned in scores of 282 for the seventy-two-hole championship at Long Beach, California, which ended yesterday They split the prize.

SOCCER HEADS TO CONSIDER REF'S ACTION

Percy Payne Calls Off Game Between Esquimalt and City When Latter Late

L.I.F.A. Officials Did Not Mean to be so Drastic; Wests Beat Thistles

Percy Payne's action in calling off the game between Victoria City and Esquimalt in the First Division on Saturday, will be considered at a meeting of the Lower Island Football Association to be held this week. The City players were late in arriving and Payne called off the match.

Payne's report will be sent to the L.I.F.A., and until it arrives the officials are not prepared to make any definite statement. Alex Robertson, president of the L.I.F.A., however, did say this morning that no instructions had been given to the referees to call off games when teams were late.

ANSWER CRITICISM

"We have been criticized by the fans a great deal for not starting the games on time," said Mr. Robertson. "We had a conference with the refcees and told them to report to us any teams that were late in taking the field, and to start the games at the scheduled hour no matter how many players were present."

Referee Payne possibly felt he had no alternative in view of the fact that when the scheduled time arrived there were no city players on the field. It was impossible to start the game, and he called it off. The city players arrived later, but there was nothing for them to do.

A splendid goal by "Toots" Plump gave the Victoria Wests a 4-3 victory over the Saanich Thistles in the Milton Cup soccer semi-final played at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The winning goal was one of the prettiest seen on a local field for some time and a fine individual effort.

It was a bitter defeat for the city champions and their second this season Esquimalt defeating them some weeks ago. The Thistles played their usual kick and rush type of game but they found a stonewall defence in Dunn and Allan who put up their best exhibition this season.

The Thistles obtained the lead on three occasions, through three goals by young Claude Bissell, who obtained the honor of performing the "hat trick," only to have the Wests come back and tie up the score and finally go into the lead.

THISTLES OUT OF SHAPE

The Wests in the second half played good football while on the other hand the Thistles seemed to suffer from their long lay-off and after ten minutes of the last period a number of them seemed to be all in.

The Thistles first goal came as the result of a rush by Barny Burns and Bissell the latter taking a pass to beat Leeming with a fast shot from long range the ball went whizzing into the high part of the net.

The Wests worked hard to get back on to even terms and Hetherington the Thistles' goalie was lucky to clear when Plump rushed him when he held the ball after making a save. A few minutes later Plump again followed in after the ball and the goalie fumbled, Plump kicking it into an open goal to put the greenshirts on an even footing. Harper conceded a corner but the Wests failed to take advantage.

Bissell again gave the Thistles the lead when he headed the ball past Leeming. The ball went right through the net and there was some dispute as to whether it was a goal or not but the referee pointed to the centre of the field for a kick-off. Bissell nearly beat Leeming with another fast shot. The Wests were awarded a foul outside the penalty area but Peden tryed to pick the corner of the net and missed the goal. Half-time found the Thistles leading 2-1.

ROBINSON SCORES

Thistles took up the offensive from the kick-off and Burns had the first shot of this half. Ted Dunn brought the ball well down the field with some pretty footwork but the Thistles' back division cleared nicely. Burns hit the bar when he headed the ball and on his second attempt Leeming caught it to clear well down the field. Robinson put hope in the hearts of the Wests' supporters when he converted a perfect centre from "Cab" Collins.

The Saanich lads again took the lead shortly after Bissell heading Ewing's corner kick into the net far out of Leeming's reach. The Wests still worked hard and their efforts met reward when Mulcahy beat Miller to place the ball on Brown's foot with only the goalie to beat and he made no mistake.

Just before time Plump earned the loud applause of the fans by scoring a lovely goal. Receiving the ball to the side of the goal he curved it into the net from a most dificult angle. The ball hit the post and glanced into the net.

For the remainder of the game the Wests played a strong defensive game and kept the hustling Thistle forwards out of scoring distance.

Oliver refereed and the teams were as follows:

Victoria Wests—Leeming, Dunn, Allan, Hawkes, Peden, Popham, Sherratt, Collins, Plump, Robinson and Mulcahy.

Saanich Thistles—Hetherington, Fesler, Harper, Miller, Joe Crowe, Jim Crowe, Phillops, Bissell, Burns, Saville and Ewing.

Rangers Come Back And Beat Detroit

After Suffering Bad Trimming in Toronto Saturday Patrick's Team Subdues Cougars at Home Before 12,000 Fans; the Canadiens Dazzle New York Crowd With Thrilling Exhibition, Morenz Scoring Three Goals to Defeat Americans; Saturday's Games

A merry battle wages for leadership of the American group in the National Hockey League, but Canadiens are running away with the honors in the rival group. In week-end battles the Boston Bruins lengthened their leadership by a victory over Ottawa and then the New York Rangers, after losing Saturday night to the Toronto Maple Leafs, turned round last night and won at Detroit, again cutting Boston's lead to one point. Detroit are two points below the Rangers.

Toronto climbed to third place in the Canadian group, a point below Maroons, by their victory over the Rangers. Montreal held second place with a victory over Pittsburgh, while Canadiens kept their lead at seven full games by beating the Americans last night.

Montreal, Jan. 16.—A crippled Montreal Maroon squad obtained revenge for a recent humiliating 4-0 defeat at the hands of the Pirates in Pittsburgh by beating the same Pirates at the Forum Saturday night by a similar 4-0 count.

The victory sent the Montreal team into undisputed possession of second place in the standing of the Canadian section of the N.H.L.

Nels Stewart, crack centre for the locals, led in the scoring lists with two tallies. Hooley Smith and Ward bagged the other goals.

The win served to lengthen the point leadership which the Hub team holds in the American wheel of the league, while it tumbled the locals into fourth place in the Canadian section of the circuit.

The tussle was hard fought, especially in the first and second periods, during which the Ross clan twice gained a one goal lead, only to see the advantage quickly wiped out by rallies and subsequent tallies by Hec Kilrea for the world's champions. In the third period, however, the Bruins suddenly spurted, Galbraith and Shore scoring in rapid succession to give the visitors their winning margin.

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Toronto Maple Leafs jumped into third position in the standing of the Canadian group of the National Hockey League here Saturday night, by trounicing the New York Rangers, 6-1.

The Rangers were outskated throughout, and their defence weakened through the absence of Bourgault, who is out on account of injuries, was hard pressed at all stages to keep the determined Leafs from piling up a record score.

Danny Cox, relief right winger for the Leafs, was a star, scoring one of his team's goals and assisting in three others.

The Americans gave the Frenchmen a good fight, and held the lead at the end of the first period.

The game was evenly contested until the final period, when the Montrealers cut loose with a display of the meteoric speed and markmanship which has carried them far into the lead of the international group.

SCOTTISH PLAY AGGRESSIVELY AND WIN HONOR

Services Beaten in Game Which Settles First Half of Rugby Schedule

Brentwood College and University School Win Matches in University School

Displaying a tireless offensive especially among their forwards, the 16th Canadian Scottish rugby football team swept to victory on Saturday afternoon when they met the United Services at Cranmore Road and by 11-0 won the first half of the senior city league. Electing to play an eight-man scrimmage, and using a four-man backfield line, the Scottish upset all the prophesies of the fans, and won handily.

On a field which was firm and springy, ideal for three-quarter work, the Scottish played a forward game, and their pack was of strong calibre. The United Services, with a heavy, speedy back line, fought them doggedly tooth and nail, contesting every inch bitterly.

After struggling up-hill for the first twenty minutes, with their line threatened more than once by fleet runners from the Services, the Scottish worked into position for an end attack and were given a free kick just outside the twenty-five line on the far right wing. Forbes took the ball. With a high-long drop, which sailed evenly between the uprights, he tallied three points.

HARD SCRUM WORK

The game was fought in the scrum in the second half, almost entirely. Until the veteran Bob Travis left the field with a nasty shin kick, it was he who led the forward rushes of the Scottish. But even with their captain gone, the Scottish continued their unwavering march towards the army and navy end.

A beautiful three-quarter play sent Larry Henderson scudding through for the Scottish men's first try. He scored directly behind the posts, but Forbes failed to convert. In the melee which followed his dash across the line Holmes was injured. He tore a muscle in his leg and finished the game on his back.

It was just after this that Ken Adams, mighty back of the Services fifteen, and one-time Naval College star, took a ball from the scrimmage and "dummied" through four men to run an easy fifty yards out of his own area. Farrar caught him in the Scottish end of the field, and from there the militia men went down to their opponents' goal again.

ANOTHER SCORE

It was a three-quarter run which brought the Scottish into line for their next score and Farrar engineered it when he flew across on the wing.

This time Forbes converted.

The teams were as follows:

16th Scottish—Nichol, Turgoose, Horne, Travis, Farrar, Quinn, Pollard, Graham, Godwin, Wilson, McGiverin, Girling, Travis, Forbes and Harrison.

United Services—Middleton, Putman, Roy, Holmes, McIntosh, Adams, Parker, Creery, Hall, Unwin, McDougall, Barker, Lee, Lewis and Austin.

AN EASY WIN

Brentwood College won a decisive victory of 19-5 over the Wanderers on Saturday afternoon.

Beginning the first half the Wanderers took the offensive. Brentwood got the ball shortly afterwards and the threes carried it up the field, to their opponents' goal line, but here were held in check and the ball was forced out. While in this position the college was given a free kick, and Mitchell put the ball between the posts for three points. This score put the Wanderers on their feet and they forced the play to the other end of the field where Senkler got over and Symons converted. This play finished the scoring for the Wanderers and shortly before half time Appleton, after a fine run gained another three points for the Brentwood team.

Shortly after the beginning of the second half, Brentwood had taken the offensive and got away for another of their spectacular runs. Matthews carried the ball over for another try. Appleton added the extra points. Following this, Matthews scored again and Appleton converted. Brentwood gained her last try when Nickson broke through and fell over the line.

C. Sanson refereed and the line-ups were: Brentwood—Nixon, Mitchell, Appleton, Pugh, Matthews, Doherty, Cooper, Ferris, Field, Martin, Symonds, Dee, Cameron, Green and Furber.

Wanderers — McConnan, Radford, Dickinson, Newell, Eagle, Laundy, Symonds, Backler, King, Pease, Senkler, Cooper, Sherwood, Harrison and Dunn.

UNIVERSITY WINS

In the Intermediate rugby fixture at Mount Tolmie Saturday, the University School defeated the Canadian Scottish decisively 33-0. For the first half the Scottish boys did not let the Mount Tolmie fifteen run things altogether, but had two tries and a kick made against them. In the second half things changed for the worse for the militia. University had everything their own way.

Of the first stanza's nine points, Gardner made the first try after a brilliant run. Though his kick for the extra points failed he shortly afterwards put a place kick over the bar which brought the total to six. The last score was made by Tye who crossed the Scottish line shortly before the half-time whistle.

In the next period, which showed the superior stamina of the school team, university piled up twenty-four points. LeMarquand made the first score, a try, which was converted by Heap. Wenman came next. Clark, Tye, Wenman and LeMarquand each raised the score by three in the order mentioned. Two of these tries were converted. This finished the scoring.

A. Cox refereed the game and the teams were as follows:

University—Heap, Taylor, LeMarquand, Gardiner, Singleton, Skillings, Tye, Hammond, Beard, McLeod, Walton, Begg, Wenman, Schmidt and Clark.

BITES NOSE, THEN FINGER; GETS POKE IN EYE IN RETURN

Searcy, Ark., Jan. 16.—When Carl Moore, a basketball player, enraged by an official decision, bit off the end of the timekeeper's nose during a game here last night, Prince Bird, the timekeeper, retaliated by bitting Moore's thumb and attempting to gouge his eye. Moore in turn bit a finernail from Bird's hand before spectators could part them.

The county grand jury is investigating.

650,000 Fans Watch Cup Tie Struggles

Gusty Weather, With Rain, Affects Most Games in England; Several First Division Clubs Just Managed to Squeeze Through; Showing of Newcastle Disappointment; South Shields Players Banished for Arguing With the Referee; McGrory Scored Eight Goals for Celtics

London, Jan. 16 (Canadian Pacific Cable)—An aggregate of 650,000 people saw the matches in the third round of the competition proper for the historic English Football Association Cup in England and Wales, on Saturday. Gusty and drizzly weather prevailed for most of the games.

The round was not productive of the usual sensations associated with cup ties, though at half time it looked as if several of the first teams were in danger. However, their superior form enabled them to pull their games out of the fire. Notable escapes were those of Leicester City and Liverpool.

DRAMATIC FINISH

Perhaps the most dramatic game was that between the First Division Birmingham team and Peterborough and Fletion, a small club in the Midland combination.

At half-time Birmingham had a deficit of one goal to three. After the turn round, Bradrock did the hat trick for Birmingham, hitting the target for the third point in the last few seconds.

Several "incidents" occurred, the most notable of which was the ordering off the grounds of Stevenson and Henderson of South Shields for talking back to the referee. The fast and over-keen games also produced a number of injuries. Grey, the Manchester City goalkeeper, had his right cheek-bone fractured and was assisted off the field and taken to hospital.

NEWCASTLE DISAPPOINTS

Criticism of the matches deals most prominently with the dismal failure of Newcastle United, at present league champions. The Novocastrians were completely outplayed by Blackburn Rovers, who ran away with the game in the second half.

The best scoring feat in the ties was that of Hanson, who netted four times for Manchester United against Brentford.

The record gate for the day was the 50,000 who saw the Arsenal defeat West Bromwich Albion at Highbury, London.

Glasgow, Scotland, Jan. 16 (Canadian Pacific Cable)—A record for league soccer scoring was set up on Saturday by J. McGrory, the noted Celtic player, during a match between his club and Dunfermline Athletic.

McGrory hit the target successfully on eight occasions. Scorers in the First Division games were:

Aberdeen—Bruce, twice; Smith, Loverne and Black.

Airdrieonians—Muir, Gordon.

Bo'ness—Oswald, Cochrane.

Hibernians—Dunn.

Celtic—McGrory, eight times; Johnson.

Cowdenbeath—Lindsay, Johnstone (through his own goal); Chambers.

Hamilton Acads—Dick.

Hearts—McMillan, twice; Devlin, Smith.

Queen's Park—Cordiner, Nicholson.

Motherwell—Cameron, Stevenson, Ferrier.

Kilmarnock—Murphy, twice; Cunningham.

Partick—Gibson, three times; McDougall, Salisbury.

St. Johnstone—Munro, Stephenson, Black, Nicholson, Swallow (from a penalty).

Dundee—Smith.

St. Mirren—Rankin, McCrae, Barclay.

Falkirk—Morrison, twice.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, Jan. 16.—Wheat: The wheat market was a dull, featureless affair to-day, with the trade volume the smallest in many months. Offerings were light, and it was claimed that the only wheat that was offered for sale came from the pool. There was no evidence of any export business, but there was a little buying of October by seaboard houses at the start.

Opening prices were unchanged to ½ lower and a further decline of ¾ was made during the day, the market sinking of its own weight, but a little support of an investment character coming through commission houses caused slight reactions and held the market steady. In the cash market there was a fair demand, but very little was coming out. Mills were after the toughs and low grades for Oriental business, they having booked some moderate business recently. Terminal interests were also picking up what wheat they could get.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Our market held within a narrow range, prices at the close not differing materially from the final figures on Saturday. The tone was heavy. The weather over the belt was not nearly as severe as anticipated, and some of the wheat accumulated Saturday was liquidated. There was little action in export circles, according to Winnipeg and the seaboard. Receipts here were fifty cars, but most of it went direct to mills. Look for irregularly lower prices.

NO NEED TO FEAR FOR SOUND STOCKS, WHITNEY ADVISES

New York, Jan. 16. (By Branson, Brown & Company Limited)—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau to-days says:

"With Saturday's session bringing on a secondary reaction which succeeded in carrying the averages back to within three quarters of a point of the low level of last Tuesday, it is very likely that this secondary movement, of which we have had about one hour, will either require a point or two additional decline to clean it up, or as a substitute need more time with less actual decline for its completion. Temporarily, I believe it will continue for at least a few days as a period in which everything is against the attempt to scalp profits, but at same time one which is ideally suited for assuming and sticking to a position in the well-selected issues which are capable of emerging from this period of indecisive movements and making the advances to which they are entitled.

"General Asphalt is simply feeling the effects of stock carried over from previous high level slightly above present quotations and with this absorbed, it will pave its way for the trip to 100 and higher later on. Missouri Pacific is now in position to make definite steps towards paying off preferred arrears and the stock should be bought. I continue to favor Allied Chemical, General Electric, Corn Products, Cons. Gas, Westinghouse Air Brake, Pullman and other recent recommendations."

New York, Jan. 16 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd)—Stockbrokers opinion to-day are:

Hornblower and Weeks—A special buying has been resumed in some of the independent steels and although U.S. Steel, strength probably reflects some short covering, recent buying of the stock seems to have been of a sound character.

Wall Street Journal's Review of To-day's Stock Market Over B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Street Leased Wire to The Victoria Times

New York, Jan. 16 (The evening edition of The Wall Street Journal says: While there was nothing in the news over the week-end to influence prices one way or another, traders entered the new week impressed with the idea that the correction of last week had not corrected the internal condition of the market, but that an overbought condition still existed.

After a brief spell of steadiness at the opening speculative selling was resumed. At first leading stocks stood the pounding fairly well, but later in the day prices began to give ground and by noontime the tone of the market had become distinctly heavy. A slightly firmer tendency in time money rates and a rise in call money to 4½ per cent, which followed calling of loans by the banks, resulted in heavier professional pressure.

The motor stocks were especially under attack on the theory, presumably that after the New York show their market position is likely to be more or less negative until the Spring sales' tendencies may be gauged.

General Motors threatened to break 130, but received strong support around that level and when determined resistance was shown, special selling attention was diverted to Steel Common. It was reported that the borrowing demand for the stock is especially heavy.

In the last hour a small rally occurred, with signs of some let-up in selling pressure. Because offerings became lighter it was difficult to tell whether the rally came as a result of the removal of pressure or whether heavier buying was overcoming offerings.

Cluett Peabody was one of the feature issues which moved against the trend. The stock advanced easily, buying being due apparently to the strong individual position of the corporation.

Call money opened at 4 per cent, closed at 4½ per cent.

SILVERADO JUMPS ON DEAL REPORTS

Silverado, which jumped about 40 points on Saturday and sold at 1.10 in Victoria, went up to sell at 1.35 on the Stock Exchange this morning. This represents a gain of another 25 points. The stock to-day closed here at 1.30-1.40, which is almost double the price it was the middle of last week. The news of the deal is responsible for the buying which is sending it up. The market in Vancouver at one time this morning had climbed up to 142-149, although it dropped back at the close to 125 bid.

George Copper, which crossed the 3.00 mark at the end of the week, continued its rise on the Victoria exchange to-day and after selling from 3.05 to 3.25, closed with 3.30 bid for the stock. At the close 3.50 was bid for the stock for sixty-day delivery. The buying in George to-day continued heavy.

Golconda in Victoria this morning sold at 83 and 85. In Vancouver the stock went to a new high, closing at 85-86.

The volume of sales on the market was lower to-day, this being Monday morning. Prices are holding and the market is full of buyers waiting to pick up stocks on any recession, which, in the case of the good ones, never seems to come, as the prices keep creeping higher and higher.

Rufus sold here to-day at 27 and closed a shade under that.

Dunwell went to a new high, closing here with 32 bid for the stock, and in Vancouver at 31½ bid. Glacier Creek was up to 6-8 in both Victoria and Vancouver.

Pend d'Oreille rushed up late Saturday to over the 5.00 mark and closed here to-day at 5.00-6.00.

Marmont Metals has come in for attention. There has been a deal on with some Seattle money, reported to be friendly to some of the Porter-Idaho group, and the stock has been firming up here for the last week.

A definite announcement is expected on Stooker within a few days. A meeting has been called to consider the proposed deal. The stock is remaining very quiet on the market.

Terminus was quiet in Victoria, but was off in Vancouver to close at 17-20. There were 9,500 shares of Terminus offered here between 23 to 21. A pool is advertising for offerings of the stock outside the market.

LATE NEWS FROM TO-DAY'S MARKETS

New York, Jan. 16 (By B.C. Bond)—American Smeltine—New properties in Newfoundland are estimated to contain over three million tons of high-grade ore. The gross recovery values should run $30 and $33 per ton so that, after making liberal allowance for all costs and profit sharing arrangements, AR should have left a net of about $10 per ton for its common stock. New properties will come into production during 1928 and by 1929 should provide an important source of revenue for the company. AR may sell lower in a reactionary market but if it does the stock should be accumulated and held for the long pull.

American Can—The forthcoming annual report is expected to show net earnings of little under $4 per share on Can and as a result some disappointed selling may be witnessed. The issue may work several points lower in a reactionary market and for the time being we would withhold constructive commitments on the chance that the stock will be obtainable at more attractive levels later.

Hornblower and Weeks say that railroad stocks, while showing improvement, still appear in an area of what will later prove to have been important accumulation but until there is a reasonable prospect of a turn for the better in carloadings, and earnings, we doubt if rails will get under way in any broad advance. Special issues in this department, therefore, seem the most logical purchase, and these include Bangor and Aroostook, Texas and Pacific, New Haven and Erie, all of which have had our recent buying recommendations.

President Budd of Great Northern said outlook for earnings this year appear as good as in 1927.

St. Paul has ordered 43,000 tons of rails from Illinois Steel Company.

Understood Borden Company is negotiating to acquire Merrell Soule Company of Syracuse, makers of mincemeat and distributors of milk and milk products.

Understood Coca Cola earned around $11 on common in 1927 against $8.25 in 1926.

Preliminary figures indicate Pere Marquette earned little less than 13% on common in 1927 against 14.50% in 1926.

The New York World says that evidence of support of the most vicorous character appeared in General Motors at the week-end and had the effect of stimulating the entire motor group.

The New York American says the General Motors annual report for 1927 may show better than $14 a share earned on the stock.

The New York Journal of Commerce says the rapid advance in Radio is believed to be associated with reports of successful experiments in television.

The New York Herald-Tribune says that while copper metal prices have not responded as quickly as was anticipitatd, the prospects for better prices in the industry at present seems good.

FINANCIAL NOTES

New York, Jan. 16 (By B.C. Bond)—Butte Copper and Zinc Company omits dividend for 1927 on ground that earnings were not sufficient to warrant payment.

American oil interests in Mexico are assured by President Calles government that fee simple titles acquired prior to adoption of constitution of 1927 will not be infringed on concessions, says Washington dispatch.

Flin Flon Mines Limited, largely controlled by Whitney interests, has incorporated in Canada with a capital of $25,000,000.

Merger of Abitibi Power and Paper, Spanish River Pulp and Paper Mills and four other companies has been declared effective with ninety-seven per cent. of aggregate stock deposited under merger plan.

Dillon Read and Company shipping $5,300,000 gold for Brazilian Government.

Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities approved issue by New Haven Railway of 17,000,000 five per cent. promissory notes payable March 1, 1930 to refund six per cent notes.

R. G. Dun and Company reports 628 commercial failures in the United States last week versus 400 previous week and 581 in same week 1927.

Dun's Reviews says conservative forces on which confidence in outlook is based have not been lessened. Progressive recovery in iron and steel industry is reason for encouragment.

Common stocks in the investment class may be depended on to increasingly reflect the tendency as time goes on in a slow but steady advance to higher figures.

Backed by adequate marginal protection, the purchase of any of the high-grade issues at prices giving a yield in any excess over five per cent would appear to be promising for profits.

News Bureau says Jewel Tea may be placed on a $4 basis late this month.

On the basis of prediction of President Sloan that current quarter would be biggest in history of General Motors, net should be $3 a share on common.

Gulf States Steel in December quarter earned $1.50 versus $1.59 in December quarter, 1926. Net for year 1927 equal to $4.93 on common against $5.28 in 1926.

Judge Winslow dismissed suit brought by John C. Barclay, a class "A" preferred stock holder of Wabash Railway Company, to compel payment of dividends on that stock from 1915 to 1926 inclusive before payment can be made on Class "B" of common stock.

CREW OF SUNKEN LIQUOR SCHOONER ARE SAFE IN PORT

Boston, Jan. 16.—Capt. Robert Mosher, of the sunken rum ship Gaspe Fisherman and his crew of seven whe were rescued by the coastguard destroyer McCall, thirty-five miles east of Nantucket Island, when the schooner caught fire, arrived at the Charlestown navy yard aboard the McCall Sunday. To-day the British consult will ship them to Halifax. Although the Gaspe Fisherman carried a cargo of 1,100 cases of champagne no charges will be preferred, as the schooner was well outside the twelve-mile limit.

The champagne cargo was valued at $75,000 and the schooner at about $15,000.

Lieut. Leroy M. McCluskie, commander of the McCall, said the Gaspe Fisherman was sighted about 8 a.m. Saturday. She was in flames from stem to stern and her crew, who had abandoned her, were adrift in two small dories in a heavy sea. The McCall was worked to the lee ward of the dories and the crew removed. The dories were about half filled with water and in danger of foundering.

Meanwhile the Gaspe Fisherman was beyond all aid and the McCall opened fire on her and sunk her as a menace to navigation.

THREE BODIES RECOVERED FROM WRECK OF NOBLE

Will Be Taken to Vancouver For Identification; Ship Breaks Up

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Bodies of three of the four sailors who perished on the wrecked auxiliary schooner Noble near Nootka, V.I., January 5, will be shipped to Vancouver for identification by Ss. Maquinna due at Victoria Tuesday, according to word received Sunday by the Giant Salvage Company office here.

One body is still missing but it is not stated which it is. The four victims were Capt. W. L. Kerr, Ben Wall, mate; H. Williams, chief engineer, and S. V. Elvy, cook. The two survivors of a harrowing experience were C. Deschamps and F. Bell.

The Giant Salvage tug Giant No. 1, was dispatched to save the engines of the schooner Thursday, and Capt. A. Barrett, in charge, telegraphed the finding of a third body Saturday. Two were washed ashore just after the wreck. Capt. Barrett stated it was believed the missing body was that of Wall, the mate.

Crews of the salvage company reported the Noble had broken in two, the forepart resting high on the beach, and the aft half on the jagged reef almost a mile from shore. It is expected the engines will be removed within three days, work being possible at low tides.

PRESIDENT TAFT ARRIVES AFTER SMOOTH VOYAGE

Docked Early To-day From Far East; Misses Big Pacific Gales

Missing the big gales which have been raging in the Pacific for the last few weeks, the Dollar liner President Taft, which docked here this morning from the Orient, reported a smooth passage. Capt. K. A. Ahlin is in command of the big steamer which put into Pier 1, Rithet Docks at 6 o'clock. She sailed late this morning for Seattle.

The Taft brought a heavy cargo, totaling 3,393 tons, in addition to 1,914 bags of mail. Raw silk valued at approximately $1,800,000 and 930 tons of wood oil were major items in her cargo. There were 639 tons of cargo for Victoria and 2,754 tons for Seattle discharge. Mail set down here amounted to 116 bags including airmail.

The passenger list totaled eighty-three in all classes, there being twenty-seven cabin passengers and fifty-six steerage, seventeen steerage leaving the vessel at this port.

Prominent among the cabin passengers were Paul D. Ahrens, tea shipper of Shidzuoka, Japan, on a business trip to the United States; W. Hausing, hardwood lumber dealer in the East Indies and Indo-China on a vacation to the United States; C. P. Huntington, representative in Japan for the General Motors Corporation, on leave of absence, accompanied by Mrs. Huntington; Dr. H. S. Houghton, in charge of Peking Union Medical College, on a vacation to New York; I. J. Konlaeiff, fur merchant of Tientsin, returning to his home in San Francisco; Capt. J. M. Mather, master of a Chinese coastal steamer for Butterfield and Levere, en route to Raymond, Washington; K. Murchison of the National City Bank of Manila, on a vacation to San Antonio, Texas; William B. Pettus, missionary teacher of the Chinese language in the University of Peking, on vacation to New York; William Randall, returning from a tour of the Orient, making records for the Victor Record Company; George Spain, Kobe merchant, on a business trip to Seattle; T. Taniguchi, photographic editor of the Tokyo Asahi and Osaka Asahi, and Yoshiho Yamada of the same journals, who will tour the United States inspecting rotogravure methods in several large daily newspapers.

Outbound the Dollar liner President Pierce will call here this afternoon. She is expected to dock about 4 o'clock from Seattle and after taking on mail and passengers here will clear for sea about 6 o'clock.

SEEK TO IMPROVE PICTURE SECTIONS IN JAPAN PAPERS

Representatives of Japanese Newspapers to Visit United States Cities

Realizing the vast attraction which the rotagravure and picture sections of daily and weekly newspapers have for the public the Tokio Asahi and Osaka Asahi of Japan have sent two representatives to the United States to study methods by which success is gained in this line.

T. Taniguchi, photographic editor and Yoshiho Yamada of the engraving department, were passengers aboard the Dollar liner President Taft, arriving this morning from the Orient.

Mr. Taniguchi stated the publishing of pictures in Japanese newspapers was at present poorly developed. The Asahi intended to make the first step and attempt to establish picture publishing more strongly in the daily press. His paper was issuing a rotogravure section weekly, he said, but at present it was not comparable to the standards of United States papers. He hoped to be able to make considerable improvement in the publishing of illustrations in the daily paper, he added.

Messrs. Taniguchi and Yamada will be in the United States for four months, visiting several large newspaper offices in New York and Chicago.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Fransisco, Jan. 14.—A special mid-Winter round trip rate on vessels of the Admiral Line plying between here and San Pedro was announced here yesterday by Hugh B. Britton, general passenger agent for the company. The new round trip fares will hold good until April and will be in addition to the present low Winter one way fares. Britton stated that Winter travel in the coastal trade on the Pacific slope has shown the greatest increase this season in the history of the Pacific Steamship Company, and he attributed this to the low rates in effect after several weeks spent at the local plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company. The Matson Liner Matsonia was shifted back to the company's pier last night to begin loading for Honolulu. During her stay on drydock the Matsonia underwent repairs costing $350,000. The vessel is scheduled to sail from here January 18, resuming her regular place in the company's service to the islands.

The Panama Mail Liner Corinto, which was due under her schedule to arrive yesterday, will not make port until January 23, due to delays occasioned by cargo offerings at the ports of Central America, the agents of the company announced here yesterday.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Bonshees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Solution of Saturday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1928

Good and evil planetary influences contend to-day, according to astrology, which finds adverse aspects rather strong.

The day is read as unlucky for insurance, pensions and other methods of protection.

Warning is given that many unsafe projects may be launched in the name of thrift, which should be practiced wisely in the coming months.

It is well not to start any important project under this rule, which makes for delays and thwarting conditions.

Lawyers may now come under the condemnation of the public, because of some sensational case.

Legislators and legislation are subject to a sway that precipitates bitter controversies and prevents constructive action.

This should be a lucky sway for aviators, who will find a growing demand for commercial transportation.

Again the seers foretell success for thinkers and this means that orators and writers will have enlarged opportunities.

There is a rule that is believed to presage secret warfare between certain fraternal and religious organizations.

Politics will reveal strangely allied forces, that will bring about surprising results, astrologers prophesy.

Women may now prepare to assume the feminine graces and charm abandoned recently, for the stars indicate a decided reaction in modes and manners.

Again there will be a return to certain chivalrous ideals in the relation of men and women, the seers foretell.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a prosperous year in which great adventures will be experienced.

Children born on this day probably will gain eminence and fame. The subject of this sign are likely to meet famous persons and to have colorful careers.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Up, up the monstrous eagle soared. "Hey, wait a minute," Clowny roared. "Where are you going to take us? Please be careful lest we fall. 'Tis true we happy Tinymites are always glad to see the sights, but riding on this box through air just isn't fun at all."

Of course the eagle didn't say a word, but floated on his way. His big claws held the box up straight, which made the Tinies glad. Said Scouty, "Long as we don't tip, I hardly think that we will slip. Just hang on tightly to this box, and it won't be so bad."

And then the bunch kept still a while and floated on, mile after mile. It wasn't long till tree tops down below were out of sight. The eagle flapped his wings real loud, which sometimes scared the Tiny crowd. The bird seemed in a hurry, 'cause he flew with all his might.

Then Scouty said, "He flies with ease, but, gee, what brings this chilling breeze? It seems like someone's fanning us. Perhaps it going to be snow." "Ha, ha," laughed Coppy. "You are wrong. I know what makes the breeze so strong. The eagle's wings are causing it by flapping to and fro."

Just then the bird swooped very high, and passed a rain cloud in the sky. "Oh, look," yelled Carpy. "He is wise! He sailed around that storm. And I know why he did, I'll bet. He didn't want to get us wet." And then the Tinies noticed that the air was getting warm.

"I don't know where we're going to go," said Clowny, "but I hope no snow is on the land he takes us to. Perhaps we're heading south." The eagle then began to drop, which almost made the Tinies flop. "Oh, my," exclaimed wee Coppy. "My poor heart was in my mouth."

The BENSON MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE © CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

He swallowed his coffee rapidly, and was setting down the cup, when Vance, who had been watching him with quizzical amusement, remarked:

"I say, why this sad preoccupation over the passing of one Benson? You weren't, by any chance, the murderer, what?"

Markham ignored Vance's levity.

"I'm on my way to Benson's. Do you care to come along? You asked for the experience, and I dropped in to keep my promise."

I then recalled that several weeks before at the Stuyvesant Club, when the subject of the prevalent homicides in New York was being discussed, Vance had expressed a desire to accompany the district attorney on one of his investigations; and that Markham had promised to take him on his next important case.

"You remember everything, don't you?" Vance replied lazily. "An admirable gift, even if an uncomfortable one." He glanced at the clock on the mantel; it lacked a few minutes to nine. "But what an indecent hour! Suppose someone should see me."

Markham moved forward impatiently in his chair.

"Well, if you think the gratification of your curiosity would compensate you for the disgrace of being seen in public at 9 o'clock in the morning, you'll have to hurry. I certainly won't take you in dressing-gown and bedroom slippers. And I most certainly won't wait over five minutes for you to get dressed."

"Why the haste, old dear?" Vance asked, yawning. "The chap's dead, don't y' know; he can't possibly run away."

"Come, get a move on, you orchid," the other urged. "This affair is no joke. It's damned serious; and from the looks of it, it's going to cause an ungodly scandal. What are you going to do?"

"Do? I shall humbly follow the avenger of the common people," returned Vance, rising and making an obsequious bow.

He rang for Currie, and ordered his clothes brought to him.

"I'm attending a levee which Mr. Markham is holding over a corpse, and I want something rather spiffy. It is warm enough for a silk suit? . . . And a lavender tie, by all means."

Vance was now dressing, with Currie's assistance, at a rate of speed I had rarely seen him display in such matters. Beneath his bantering pose I recognized the true eagerness of the man for a new experience and one that promised such dramatic possibilities for his alert and observing mind.

"You knew Alvin Benson casually, I believe," the district attorney said. "Well, early this morning his housekeeper phoned the local precinct station that she had found him shot through the head, fully dressed and sitting in his favorite chair in his living-room. The message, of course, was put through at once to the telegraph bureau at headquarters, and my assistant on duty notified me immediately. I was tempted to let the case follow the regular police routine. But half an hour later Major Benson, Alvin's brother, phoned me and asked me, as a special favor, to take charge. I've known the major for twenty years, and I couldn't very well refuse. So I took a hurried breakfast and started for Benson's house. He lived in West Forty-eighth Street; and as I passed your corner I remembered your request, and dropped by to see if you cared to go along."

"Most consid'rate," murmured Vance, adjusting his four-in-hand before a small polychrome mirror by the door. Then he turned to me. "Come, Van. We'll all gaze upon the defunct Benson. I'm sure some of Markham's sleuths will unearth the fact that I detested the bounder and accuse me of the crime; and I'll feel safer, don't y' know, with legal talent at hand . . . No objections—eh, what, Markham?"

"Certainly not," the other agreed readily, although I felt that he would rather not have me along. But I was too deeply interested in the affair to offer any ceremonious objections, and I followed Vance and Markham downstairs.

As we rode up-town Markham appeared preoccupied and gloomy. No word had been spoken since we left the apartment; but as we turned west into Forty-eighth Street Vance asked:

"What is the social etiquette of these early-morning murder functions, aside from removing one's hat in the presence of the body?"

"You keep your hat on," growled Markham.

"My word! Most int'restin'! Perhaps one takes off one's shoes so as not to confuse the footprints."

"No," Markham told him. "The guests remain fully clothed—in which the function differs from the ordinary evening affairs of your smart set."

"My dear Markham!"—Vance's tone was one of melancholy reproof—"The horrified moralist in your nature is at work again."

Markham was too abstracted to follow up Vance's badinage.

"There are one or two things," he said soberly," that I think I'd better warn you about. From the looks of it, this case is going to cause considerable noise, and there'll be a lot of jealousy and battling for honors. I won't be fallen upon and caressed affectionately by the police for coming in at this stage of the game; so be careful not to rub their bristles the wrong way. My assistant, who's there now, tells me he thinks the inspector has put Heath in charge. Heath's a sergeant in the homicide bureau, and is undoubtedly convinced at the present time that I'm taking hold in order to get the publicity."

"Aren't you his technical superior?" asked Vance.

"Of course; and that makes the situation just so much more delicate . . . I wish to God the major hadn't called me up."

"Eheu!" sighed Vance. "The world is full of Heaths: Beastly nuisances."

"Don't misunderstand me," Markham hastened to assure him. "Heath is a good man—in fact, as good a man as we've got. The mere fact that he was assigned to the case shows how seriously the affair is regarded at headquarters. There'll be no unpleasantness about my taking charge, you understand; but I want the atmosphere to be as halcyon as possible. Heath'll resent my bringing along you two chaps as spectators, anyway; so I beg of you, Vance, emulate the modest violet."

"I prefer the blushing rose, if you don't mind," Vance protested. "However, I'll instantly give the hypersensitive Heath one of my choicest Regie cigarettes with the rose-petal tips."

"If you do," smiled Markham, "he'll probably arrest you as a suspicious character."

We had drawn up abruptly in front of an old brown stone residence on the upper side of Forty-eighth Street, near Sixth Avenue. It was a house of the better class, built on a twenty-five-foot lot in a day when permanency and beauty were still matters of consideration. The design was conventional, to accord with the other houses in the block, but a touch of luxury and individuality was to be seen in its decorative copings and in the stone carvings about the entrance and above the windows.

There was a shallow paved areaway between the street line and the front elevation of the house; but this was enclosed in a high iron railing, and the only entrance was by way of the front door, which was about six feet above the street level at the top of a flight of ten broad stone stairs. Between the entrance and the right-hand wall were two spacious windows covered with heavy iron grilles.

A considerable crowd of morbid onlookers had gathered in front of the house; and on the steps lounged several alert-looking young men whom I took to be newspaper reporters. The door of our taxicab was opened by a uniformed patrolman who saluted Markham with exaggerated respect and ostentatiously cleared a passage for us through the gaping throng of idlers. Another uniformed patrolman stood in the little vestibule, and on recognizing Markham, held the outer door open for us and saluted with great dignity.

CHAPTER II

As we passed through the massive carved-oak front door into the main hallway, we were met by Assistant District Attorney Dinwiddie, a serious, swarthy young man with prematurely lined face, whose appearance gave one the impression that most of the woes of humanity were resting upon his shoulders.

"Good morning, chief," he greeted Markham, with eager relief. "I'm damned glad you've got here. This case'll rip things wide open. Cut-and-dried murder, and not a lead."

At that moment a tall, massive, middle-aged man with a pink complexion and a closely-cropped white mustache, appeared in the doorway of the living-room. On seeing Markham he came forward stiffly with outstretched hand. I recognized him at once as Chief Inspector O'Brien, who was in command of the entire police department. Dignified greetings were exchanged between him and Markham, and then Vance and I were introduced to him. Inspector O'Brien gave us each a curt, silent nod, and turned back to the living-room, with Markham, Dinwiddie, Vance and myself following.

The room, which was entered by a wide double door about ten feet down the hall, was a spacious one, almost square, and with high ceilings. Two windows gave on the street; and on the extreme right of the north wall, opposite to the front of the house, was another window opening on a paved court. To the left of this window were the sliding doors leading into the dining-room at the rear.

The room presented an appearance of garish opulence. About the walls hung several elaborately framed paintings of race horses and a number of mounted hunting trophies. A highly-colored Oriental rug covered nearly the entire floor. In the middle of the east wall, facing the door, was an ornate fireplace and carved marble mantel. Placed diagonally in the corner on the right stood a walnut upright piano with copper trimmings. Then there was a mahogany bookcase with glass doors and figured curtains, a sprawling tapestried davenport, a squat Venetian tabouret with inlaid mother-of-pearl, a teakwood stand containing a large brass samovar, and a buhl-topped centre table nearly six feet long. At the side of the table nearest the hallway, with its back to the front windows, stood a large wicker lounge chair with a high fan-shaped back.

In this chair reposed the body of Alvin Benson.

Though I had served two years at the front in the World War and had seen death in many terrible guises, I could not repress a strong sense of revulsion at the sight of this murdered man.

Benson's body was reclining in the chair in an attitude so natural that one almost expected him to turn to us and ask why we were intruding upon his privacy. His head was resting against the chair's back. His right leg was crossed over his left in a position of comfortable relaxation. His right arm was resting easily on the center-table, and his left arm lay along the chair's arm. But that which most strikingly gave his attitude its appearance of naturalness was a small book which he held in his right hand with his thumb still marking the place where he had evidently been reading.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change Cow to Hen, in three strokes, Cow, How, Hew, Hen.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letter golf cannot be changed.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Cotton Bug

(Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Did you hear that noise, Unkie Wig?" asked Baby Bunty.

"Yes," answered the rabbit gentleman, "I did. Please don't call out like that again, Bunty."

"Why, Unkie Wig! I didn't call!" exclaimed the little orphan rabbit. "I thought you did."

"And I though you did," said Mr. Longears. "If neither of us made the noise then some one else must have done it. And who was it?"

"That's what I'd like to know," said Baby Bunty.

She and Uncle Wiggily had gone adventuring, as I told you in the Saturday story. The Weasel had taken Uncle Wiggily's glasses while the bunny gentleman slept, and only that Bunty made a pair of glasses out of some crystal clear pieces of ice, Mr. Longears could not have seen his way to escape from the Bad Chaps.

Mr. Longears, now, was near his bungalow, with Bunty when, all of a sudden they heard a strange noise and some one shouted at them,

"Do you see any one?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking around on the snow. He knew Bunty, with her bright eyes,

"What are you—a talking snowball?"

could see better than he could even with a new pair of ice glasses he had made for himself, for the Weasel still had his regular ones.

"No, I can't see any one," answered the little orphan rabbit.

Just then a laugh shouted.

"But there is some one here all the same!" declared Bunty, and then, all of a sudden, she saw what she though was a snowball moving. "Oh, look out, Uncle Wiggily!" she shouted. "Here comes trouble!"

For what Bunty thought was a snowball kept rolling towards her and the rabbit gentleman, and it was from this white object that the voice came saying:

"Wait for me! Don't be afraid! Please take me in your bungalow, Uncle Wiggily, and help me."

"What are you—a talking snowball?" asked the bunny uncle.

"Oh, I know what it is!" suddenly laughed Bunty. "It's a Cotton Bug! See, Unkie Wig, this is a bug all covered with fluffy cotton and that's why he looks like a snowball! Oh, you darling little Cotton Bug!"

Uncle Wiggily could see that the calling voice came from some sort of a bug all covered with fluffy cotton.

"But I am not really a Cotton Bug," said the crawling insect, "though I do look like one."

"Who are you, then?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I am your old friend, one of the Squiggle Bugs,' was the reply.

"Oh, of course you are!" laughed Bunty. "I can see some of your pretty spots, Squiggles Bug, beneath the cotton. And you stuck the fluffy cotton all over yourself so you would be warm when you went out in the snow; didn't you? It makes you look like a snowball."

"I didn't exactly put the cotton on myself," answered the Squiggle Bug, "though it certainly does keep me warm. What happened was this: My brother whose name is Squoddy, while my name is Toddy, my brother said to me let's have some fun. So we opened a bottle of glue, for we were going to stick paper snow shoes on our feet and go skating on the ice. Only Squoddy upset the bottle of glue and it got all over me. Then Squody tried to sop up the glue with some bunches of fluffy cotton that Mother was using to make bed quilts with. And so the cotton stuck in the glue on me and now look at me!"

"You certainly are funny looking!" laughed Bunty.

"But it isn't any fun for everybody takes me for a snowball," sighed Toddy.

"My brother tried to pull the cotton off me but he couldn't, so I said I'd get Uncle Wiggily to do it. You will; won't you, please?" Toddy asked the bunny gentleman.

"Of course I will," said Mr. Longears. "Come into my bungalow. I guess I can see well enough with my ice glasses to put some warm water on the glue to melt it and then the cotton will slip off your wings, legs and body."

But no sooner had Uncle Wiggily hopped into his warm bungalow than he couldn't see a thing, for his ice glasses all melted. So his wife and Nurse Jane had to soak Toddy in warm water to get the cotton unstuck from the Squiggle Bug, which they did after a while.

"Something will have to be done about getting my glasses back from the Weasel," said Mr. Longears. "I need them very much." And in the next story, if the Christmas doll doesn't turn her eyes upside down, so she looks out of the back of her head, I'll tell you how Uncle Wiggily found his glasses.

Spotlight Hour And Symphonists On Air To-night

The hour from 8 to 9 to-night will bring National Broadcasting Company Pacific Coast Network listeners another musical programme by Rudy Seiger's Shell Symphonists.

Rudy Seiger's Shell Smyphonists have won so much favor from the radio public that in response to wide appeal a part of the Shell programme this evening will be given up to playing request numbers. Through his long radio experience, Rudy Seiger has become adept in the art of inserting request numbers in his programmes so that they are appropriate to the rest of the concert selections and do not seem to have been put in at the last moment.

The programme opens with selections from "Der Fledermaus," otherwise "The Bat." This is a light opera by Johann Strauss, composer of "The Blue Danube" waltz, who was known as the Waltz King. In addition there are many features that will make the Shell Symphonists' programme for tonight of unusual interest. A march by Rudy Seiger, remarkable for its varied, spontaneous rhythms, originally written for the Family Club and entitled "The Family," will be given.

Also there will be flute solos by Anthony Linden, one of the foremost flutists on the West Coast. He will play two solos, one of which will be Debussy's "Shepherd's Call," which Linden has arranged for the flute unaccompanied by any other instrument. A touch of humor will be introduced in the slight but delicately charming "Dancing Doll" of Poldini. This is followed by selections from Delibes's "Coppelia" ballet, which differ from the numbers usually played in this suite, thus combining novelty with familiarity. The programme ends with two brilliant Hungarian dances by Brahms.

SPOTLIGHT HOUR

The Spotlight Hour will be broadcast over the associated N.B.C. Pacific Coast Network stations to-night from 10 to 11 o'clock. When it was announced, back in 1908, that Lederer, then the leading "girl-and-music show" producer, was to make a musical production of the comic strip called "The Newly-Weds and Their Baby," the wise men of Broadway shook their heads and predicted failure. First of all they said no baby could possibly play a part as important as that of the little Napoleon in the comic supplements, and they declared the story was too thin. But Lederer went on and the show was a big success.

This Spotlight Hour, which has won a place in the hearts of radio fans, has as its sole mission the bringing back of the best opera music and musical comedy hits of other years. Hearing once more the familiar strains of a song heard ten or fifteen years ago brings with it a group of associated memories and gives that pleasure of reminiscence men and women enjoy after the fortieth birthday has passed. The younger folk, to whom much of the music is quite new because it was played before they became theatre-goers, also like this Spotlight Hour, with its pleasant revivals. Miss Eileen Piggott has an excellent number on his programme, "All the World Loves a Lover," from "Modest Suzanne."

ELECTION RECOUNT MAY YET CHANGE FINAL STANDING

Esquimalt Returns For Poll Number Two Not Yet Official

Two Councillors Head Polls to Retain Seats For Another Term

A recount of the ballots of Poll No. 2, Esquimalt, will take place to-morrow, according to an announcement made this morning by J. R. Collister, returning officer, and not until then will the official and final figures on the contest be decided.

In at least one instance there is a close vote which may move one way or another. Major J. A. Crompton is, according to the first count after the polls closed on Saturday, only three votes ahead of Neil Fraser in the race for the third seat on the School Board. Although the count on Poll No. 1 is final and official, Mr. Collister says, that on No. 2 has yet to be recounted by him and announced final.

In no other places is the recount likely to make any material difference, Mr. Collister says. The pluralities of candidates elected appears to be decisive except in this instance, he says.

TWO RE-ELECTED

Councillor Albert Heald, with Councillor C. H. Smith and Thomas Hadfield running close behind him in order, headed the polls at the Esquimalt municipal elections. Councillor Heald polled a substantial plurality and Councillor Smith was well up in the list, but Thomas Hadfield defeated Mrs. Elizabeth Comerford by a small margin only, to gain third place. In Poll No. 1 he was but one vote ahead of the woman candidate.

Thomas Hadfield is a school trustee. He ran for the council, while Councillor Alexander Lockley came out for the School Board. Both were elected, with Councilor Lockley heading the trustee polls. Trustee Mrs. E. Isbister, for six years active on the board and chairman for the last year, was returned to office second on the list of candidates and J. A. Crompton, a new-comer to office, took third place.

SUBSTANTIAL VOTE

More than fifty per cent. of Esquimalt's voters turned out to the polls on Saturday, although there was no reeveship contest to stimulate their interest in the election nor any money by-law requiring their expression. Of the 1,361 eligible voters 714 cast a ballot. Twenty of these were spoiled in both contests.

There were eight candidates for the council and six for the school board, with three seats on each body to fill.

The results of the election are as follows:

SECESSION MOVE IS TO BE SPEEDED UP

Petition For Disincorporation of Rural Saanich to be Circulated

"The movement for disincorporation of rural Saanich has been given reinforcement by the election results of Saturday," stated H. E. Tanner of Ward Six this morning, when outlining the steps proposed to be taken during the coming month by the advocates of secession.

"The heavy vote cast in Ward Six was the largest recorded by the district since the organization of Saanich. Ninety per cent of that vote was opposed to continuance of the present conditions in Saanich. The committee in charge of the campaign for a change regards that vote as a mandate to continue its work," he said.

A meeting of the committee organizing circulation of the petition favoring disincorporation from Saanich will be held to-morrow evening at Keating Temperance Hall. This committee had delayed operations pending the result of the municipal elections. In Ward Five a similar committee has completed its task, with a success which has proven most gratifying, in the opinion of Mr. Tanner.

HATED TO EAT BECAUSE OF STOMACH DISTRESS

If you can't eat, you can't keep up your strength, can't work, can't think, can't get any enjoyment out of life. In other words, you are in a dangerous condition; just ready to be attacked by some serious illness which you are not strong enough to resist. Your are probably in the same distressing state that Mr. Frank Sprague, 110 Cathedral Ave., Winnipeg, was in when Tanlac came to his rescue.

"I had an attack of grippe," he writes, "which left me weak and thin. I lost my appetite and what little food I ate caused such indigestion pains that I just hated to eat. I went to work, but seemed to have no strength and energy, and felt miserable and despondent. I took only three bottles of Tanlac, and now I am enjoying the best of health. Tanlac came to my rescue just in time, and it did so much for me that I want to praise it all the time."

Tanlac relieves pain, nausea, dizziness caused by indigestion—corrects constipation brings back sleep and appetite—puts you on your feet again. The cost is less than 2c a dose—less than 6c a day to be well.

Tanlac brings back appetite; helps you digest your food, gain in strength, increase in weight. Made of roots, barks and herbs—nature's own medicine for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist to-day; your money back of it doesn't help you.

52 MILLION BOTTLES USED

STILL FOUND, BUT OPERATORS ESCAPED

Campbellton, N.B., Jan. 16.—It is announced here that New Brunswick provincial police recently discovered, two miles from Kedwick, in Restigouche County, fifty-four miles from here, one of the largest stills ever found in New Brunswick, and that almost as soon as the discovery was made the premises were blown up and a member of the police force received bad burns about the face and hands, but was able to escape with samples of the product of the still.

It was about 2 o'clock in the morning, say the police, that they found the still in a building that was formerly part of a lumber camp, but which had been extensively remodelled and a concrete floor put down. Upon a member of the police demanding admission to the premises, the inside lights were extinguished. The officer was able to make an entrance and ordered the occupants to surrender, but they made good their escape.

The officer made a hurried inspection of the place and found a six-ton boiler and a complete still in operation. The policeman had barely got outside the door when there was an explosion and the premises were blown up.

VETERAN IN TORONTO KILLED HIS SON

Toronto, Jan. 16. — "I loved them. That's why I killed them—to save them from their hopeless misery."

This was a statement made by George F. H. Deignton, thirty-four, talented linguist of Toronto, when asked by Toronto police why he had slain his son, Bernard, aged four, and severely wounded his wife, Barbara Mary, thirty-one, and his daughter Joan, aged seven, with a hatchet in their home on Saturday.

Deignton is holder of the Military Cross, formerly having been a major in the British army.

Mrs. Deignton is lying in a critical condition in a hospital with six fractures of the skull and other terrible injuries, while Joan is in the Hospital for Sick Chilren with a broken skull, with slim chance for life.

Wouned in battle, gassed and discharged from military service in a disabled condition, with the sight of one eye gone, Deignton migrated to Canada, hoping to recuperate his health and finances. He did not meet with much success and gradually he sank into a morass of debt.

LIVED IN POVERTY

That the family felt the pinch of poverty is evident from the surroundings. It is thought the immediate cause of his act was the fear of arrest for passing two cheques for which there were no funds.

"We had no money and we were in debt. I couldn't get any employment. I thought this was the best way out of it all," Deignton told the police.

Neighbors stated the Deignton family always seemed happy. Only on last Friday night the music of the gramophone was heard, and the shouts of glee as the father romped with the children.

When taken into custody, Deignton was carrying two books by the late Thomas Hardy.

KNOWN IN OTTAWA

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—George Deignton, held by the Toronto police following the slaying of his four-year-old son and the attempted killing of his wife and another child, was a well-known figure in Ottawa, having been connected with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and also with the Ottawa police office. In both instances he was engaged entirely in interpretation work.

It is understood here that during Deignton's service with the British forces in the Great War he was engaged in considerable work for the British War Office, owing to his ability as a linguist. His discharge papers from the army gave him the rank of major and it is said by Ottawans who were acquainted with him that he had been employed following the war on missions to Russia, France and other European countries.

During most of the time George Deignton spent in Ottawa, after coming here in 1924 from Winnipeg, he was employed with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as an interpretation officer.

In Winnipeg he was engaged as a school teacher.

Marriage Plan Of Ex-Maharajah Is Now Abandoned

Madras, India, Jan. 16.—A member of the staff of the Ex-Maharajah of Indore intimated the marriage of the former ruler to Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, Washington, might not take place.

Arriving here en route to Indore, he said the Indian and the United States girl were still in Ceylon, and that the former Maharajah was suffering from a heart attack, from which he might take a fortnight to recover, and then he would go to France, where he owns considerable property.

SAANICH VOTERS RE-ELECT CROUCH

Reeve William Crouch Given 397 Majority Over Councillor Milne

Walter P. Jeune Heads Trustee Poll; Trustees Hobbs and Horner Returned

The popularity of Reeve Crouch with Saanich ratepayers was strikingly shown on Saturday, when he was victorious over Councillor David Milne in his campaign for a second term of office. Reeve Crouch rolled up a majority of 397 votes on the unofficial count, in a contest marked by a drop of 300 in the ballots cast. In Wards Three and Four, Reeve Crouch succeeded in winning more votes than he obtained last year. A feature of the election was the heavy vote polled in Wards Five and Six, despite the lack of a contest for councillor.

REEVE WILLIAM CROUCH

Trustees F. V. Hobbs and A. E. Horne, seeking re-election to the School Board, were both returned, with Walter P. Jeune as the third member to replace Trustee Mrs. Beckett, retired. Mr. Jeune headed the poll with 1,197 votes.

William Stubbs was returned to the council to represent Ward Four, after an absence of one year, defeating Councillor George McWilliam by a substantial majority.

In Ward Seven George S. Eden was elected councillor, his supporters outnumbering the combined vote accorded H. Holmes and H. H. Grist.

Reeve William Crouch was prevented from ill-health from observing the customary practise of appearing at the Municipal Hall and personally thanking the voters interested in the tally. From his bedside he dictated a brief statement of thanks and appreciation, with a pledge of his best efforts during the coming year.

The official recount of the ballots commenced this morning, the unofficial results announced on Saturday evening being as follows.

VETERANS' SHOP NOW BIG INDUSTRY

Red Cross Venture Represents Annual Distribution $63,000

Representing a yearly distribution in wages and the purchase of raw materials of over $63,000, the Red Cross Workshop on Johnson Street has now developed into a local industry of considerable proportions, one fully deserving the whole-hearted support of every citizen.

These facts were given in the annual report of the workshop presented by Major S. H. Okell at the meeting of the workshop committee last week, comprising P. W. Jones, chairman; Mrs. M. E. Fleming, president of the local Red Cross Society; Mr. W. L. Morkill; the Bishop of Columbia and Mr. G. H. Dawson.

The report said in part:

"While the good done cannot be computed in dollars and cents, still, even on a straight commercial basis, we are progressing very favorably as the following summary of wages paid out to disabled men will signify:

1922	$11,353.49
1923	14,833.21
1924	18,191.91
1925	20,725.59
1926	22,739.86
1927	23,990.93

Increase 1927 over 1922, $12,637.44, or 111 per cent.

"Besides the wages paid out, we also expend about $12,000 per year in raw materials, etc., practically all of which is spent locally, so that we now are distributing over $63,000 annually—an industry of no mean proportions.

"At December 31, 1927, there were thirty-five men on the roll of the shop. Since our commencement in April, 1921, there have been eighty-one men employed. Of these, twenty-two have left to take up work outside, five have died, eighteen have resigned for various reasons, one is working at home and thirty-five are in the shop.

"The average pension of the men now working is forty-two per cent. Of these, twelve are fifty per cent pension or over. Only six are under thirty per cent.

"During the year we took on six new men; while three have left to take up employment outside; two others resigned, and it is with regret that we have to report that two died from their war disabilities. Both of these men were very highly respected in the shop, and their loss is keenly felt. In both cases assistance was rendered to the families."

Sidney

Mr. and Mrs. F. Larson are visiting at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hearns, Beacon Hill.

The regular monthly meeting of the Guild of St. Andrew's Church, Sidney, was held on Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. W. Whitings, Sixth Street, with a fair attendance. A letter of thanks was read for the hamper that was given at Christmas. It was decided that a bouquet of flowers be sent Mrs. F. M. Hughes, who is receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, on Jaunary 9. Mrs. Harrison invited the guild to hold their next meeting at her home, "The Orchard." Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The regular weekly and card party was held on Wednesday evening in Berquist dining-hall. A pleasant evening was spent in military five hundred, being played at five tables. Prizes for the evening's play were awarded to Mrs. Deildal, Mrs. A. Critchley, Lasson and J. Storey, Mrs. T. Lidgate and N. Fralick won the high bid prizes, which were donated by Mr. MacDonald. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. N. MacAulay. It was decided that the club donate $2.50 toward the street lighting fund.

Final arrangements were made for a visit to be made to the Keatings Social Club on Saturday, January 21.

Mrs. Lidgate has kindly asked the social club members and all who are interested, to hold their next meeting which will take place next Wednesday night, at her home, Fourth Street. A lot of important business will be discussed, as the club had the misfortune to lose all possessions in the recent fire, when premises, as well as club necessities, will have to be secured as soon as possible.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. S. Brethour, East Road, with a large attendance. The president, Mrs. Simister, occupied the chair, and opened the meeting. The secretary, Mrs. J. T. Taylor, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were adopted as read. A very interesting report of the year's work was then read, showing a very industrious and successful year. The treasurer read her report, which was very satisfactory.

Two new members were welcomed to the aid, and Mrs. Anderson was a visitor. Mrs. A. Critchley was appointed home secretary. It was decided that the ladies of the aid, in conjunction with the South Saanich Ladies' Aid provide for the annual Congregational banquet of the North and South Saanich Union Churches, to be held in Wesley Hall about the second Tuesday in February.

Tea was served by Mrs. Brethour and Mrs. Armstrong. Mrs. Ramsay kindly invited the ladies to hold their next meeting at her home, Fifth Street.
